FEBRUARY FUN.

A man who knew little or nothing of horses bought a slab-sided brute not worth a crown, but which he in his ignorance thought was nothing short of an equine paragon, and a Derby winner in embryo. One day the proud owner said to Fox—"Come and have a look at my new purchase, and tell me how you like the horse." Shown into the animal's box and asked what he thought of the brute, and what he should do with him, Tiny said, without so much as moving a muscle—"Well, if I were you, old man, I should exchange him for a yellow dog—and then shoot the dog."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, etc.

WHY is a bad boy like a postage stamp? Because he is first licked and then stuck in the corner.

AN ARTIST IN HARMONIES.—"Dear Mr. Hicks," she wrote, "I am very sorry that what you ask I cannot grant. I cannot become your wife. Yours sincerely, Ethel Barrows." Then she added: "P.S.—On second thought, dear George, I think I will marry you. Do come up to-night and see your own true Ethel."

BURDOCK Blood Bitters is endorsed by all unprejudiced medical men as a successful blood purifier.

'Twas AN OFF YEAR.—Mr. Schnellenbacker—Dit you raise many cabbages dis year, Mr. Fluschenbuel? Mr. F.—No, not schoost as many as I haf some years. Mr. S.—Dit you make much saur craut dis year? Mr. F.—No, I ditn't bodder mit saur craut dis year. I only mate about ten barrels—schoost for sickness.

PASSENGER—Is this ticket good to stop off? Conductor—Yes'm. But it won't be good to get on again.

BALL'S Toothache Drops stop toothache as if by magic. Price 10c.

LADY—"What has become of those handsome sideboards you had when we called last?" Salesman (bashful, yet gratified)—"I've shaved them off again, miss."

WHY is a horse like sugar candy? Because the more you lick it the faster it goes.

HAGYARD'S Yellow Oil cures all pain.

FAMILY EXPERIENCE.—Grammar Teacher—"Johnny, give me an example of a sentence." Johnny—"One dollar and costs or thirty days."
