FROM GUELPH.

PRESENTATIONS TO MR. J. P. AYLRARD. Mr. J. P. Aylward, late Principal of the Separate Schools here, since resigning his position to complete his education at the Jesuit Seminary in Montreal for a priest, has been made the recipient of many valuable and handsome presents and flattering addresses, yet withal, on none of these former occasions was such an enjoyable and pleasant time spent as on the one given last night in the home of Mr. E. J. O'Brien, by some thirty of his personal friends, among whom were several of his pupils. In the unavoidable absence of Mr. J. P. Woods, of the A. O. C., chairman of the Presentation Committee, who sent a letter deeply regretting his absence, Mr. Maurice O'Connor was appointed chairman.

Mr. O'Connor on taking the chair, in a capital extempore speech, paid a high compliment to Mr. Aylward, not only on his capabilities as a teacher, but for the example he had set before his pupils in his private life and in their religious training. He remarked that a teacher might receive a good salary and do his duties well, but he felt that no recompense could repay the faithful teacher, and went on to show that on the depended greatly the future of the young men who were under his instructions. He then called on Dr. Nunan to read the following address:

DEAR SIR AND FRIEND.—Before taking your departure from Guelph to complete your studies in the Grand Seminary, Montreal, for the high and holy office of the priesthood, we feel it to be our pleasing duty to give expression to the sentiments felt towards you, not only by us but also by the entire congregation of Our Lady's Church in Guelph. The children attending our schools sustain a great loss in parting with you, their accomplished and zealous teacher, who never spared either time or labor to promote their advancement in Christian knowledge and virtue, as well as in profane learning. The congregation will miss you from your place in the sanctuary, but be assured that their warmest wishes and fervent prayers will accompany you, that you may be spared to reach the goal of your ambition and that they may soon have the pleasure of congratulating you on attaining the highest dignity possible in this world, that of being a priest of the Most High. We look forward with confidence to the realization of this when we reflect that it has been your happy lot to have spent so many years in study under the distinguished direction of the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, to whose zeal and devotion the parish of Our Lady of Guelph owe far more than it is possible to express. The influence of your many virtues and of your untiring labors in the sacred cause of our holy religion will be long felt, and cherished in fond remembrance. Those friends who enjoyed the privilege of your acquaintance, part from you with sincere regret; they will miss the friendly grasp and genial greeting, the agreeable and edifying conversation. Please accept these presents as a slight token of our profound esteem, enduring friendship, and sincere wishes for your temporal and eternal happiness.

Signed by D. Nunan, M. D., chairman, and James Keough, Secretary, on behalf of the donors. Mr. Aylward made a feeling reply something as follows:—GENTLEMEN AND DEAR FRIENDS.—I must confess the occasion which has brought us together to-night gives rise to feelings and reminiscences it would be difficult appropriately to express. Well indeed I recall the oft-repeated motto, "Time rolls his ceaseless course," as the hour of separation draws nigh. The numerous acts of kindness I have repeatedly received at your hands, and especially the one of this evening shall ever form an epoch often to be recalled in the future with undying gratitude, for you, dear friends, to whom I am now compelled to say farewell. As the traveller on the mountain top of the ridge that ends his wanderings, casting a sad and pensive glance o'er scenes endeared to memory by the most pleasing ties and connections, sighs at the parting, and almost hates the day that says they have all ended, so standing on the verge of separation I will recall, I assure you, the many happy re-unions which rendered my associations with you so pleasant. In fact association is the Alexander of the world, the Gordian knot the silver chords that fastened us together, and which encompassed in its expanse, those whom the closest of connections and the most hallowed of ties had made us regard as being surely necessary for our happiness, if not for our very existence. There is a pang, an anguish in the act of separation, which soever be the connection about to be dissolved or of whatsoever character be the persons who formed the attachment. Your beautiful present will ever recall those who formed this happy circle to-night. Rest assured, gentlemen, that I appreciate the great debt I owe you, nor could I staidly ungratefully not animated but even keep alive your memory with that freshness with which my heart shall always preserve it, deeply engraven and tinged with the brightest hues of the happiest days of my life.

"Farewell, a word that must be and hath been, which makes us linger, yet, farewell." The presentations consisted of a fine morocco dressing-case in old gold trimmings, purchased from Mr. A. B. Petrie, silk umbrellas purchased from Messrs. Shaw & Grundy, a portmanteau purchased from Mr. J. Tovell, and a French merino Cassock made to order in Montreal. Each of these articles bore a suitable and similar inscription.

Mr. John Murphy, of Mount Tara, was then called on. He said on receiving the invitation to attend this pleasant gathering, he considered if he could not find anything among his belongings which he could present to his well-beloved friend, Mr. Aylward. On looking over the library of his late lamented friend, Bishop O'Brien of Kingston, for whom he was executor, he found two volumes of the lives of the Popes from the time of St. Peter down to Pius IX., and thought these books would make a suitable present, and he, in keeping with the mission to which he was to be called.

Mr. Aylward made an eloquent and feeling reply, in which he heartily thanked Mr. Murphy for his present, and paid a high tribute of respect to the memory of the late venerated R. C. Bishop of Kingston, who was a man of great talent, intellect and influence, and was an honor and adornment to the church. He was beloved and esteemed by the public at large, and he would cherish these volumes far more than all his belongings, seeing that they had been formerly in the possession of such a beloved and distinguished prelate.

On the fly-leaf of the volumes was the simple inscription John O'Brien, Priest, Brockville, 1868, added to which was Mr. Murphy's conveyance of the books to Mr. Aylward.

Mr. Keough then read the following address from Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien and family:—DEAR AND RESPECTED SIR.—It is with feelings of pleasure that we presume to avail ourselves of the opportunity, before your departure from the city of Guelph, to express to you in person our recognition of the many acts of kindness, benevolence and generosity of you towards us as well as the many personal sacrifices you have made on our children, not alone in the schools, but in the sanctuary; the assiduity and care with which you have watched their every movement, tended to their temporal and eternal welfare, the thoughts of which will forever enrich your name in our memory. When we remember you have been schooled under the eminent sons of the illustrious Saint Ignatius of Loyola, your stainless and unblemished character, your cheerful greeting, your readiness ever to assist and promote by your scholarly attainments and advancements every good work in our community, please accept on behalf of myself, Mr. O'Brien, and family, this token of our appreciation and our own simple art. The humble efforts of my own simple art. Behold the horn of plenty, the symbol of our overflowing love, in those clasped hands our undying friendship, and in this heart the sincere gratitude that is engraven in our hearts towards you, which neither the vicissitudes of time nor the distance of space will ever be able to obliterate or deface. When we know the high and holy vocation your ambition prompts you to, when we know that you have been chosen for your holy spouse Him whose eternal sun never dims, be assured, dear friend, that the absence of your person from our family circle will but give strength to our living hope that it may please God in the near future to consummate the realization of your high and holy desires, that myself, Mr. O'Brien, and family may be spared to witness, and the Church of Our Lady in Guelph be honored, with the ceremony of your consecration to the high and holy office of being a priest of the Most High God by the hands of our venerable Bishop within the sacred walls of the Church of Our Lady, and when you perform the holy duties of the office of the holy Priesthood, remember us in your prayers, the last aspiration of our throbbing hearts—farewell.

The address was signed by Mr. E. J. O'Brien, Mrs. O'Brien and family. Mr. Aylward made a very feeling reply, and while thanking them for the address and presentation, paid them a flattering compliment on the advancement made in education by their two sons.

The presentation was a casket richly carved out of a solid block of walnut by Mr. O'Brien, and lined with satin, and is certainly a valuable piece of workmanship. The borders of both addresses were most artistically executed, and was the work and designing of Mr. E. J. O'Brien, which reflects great credit on his artistic taste. On the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien the party was entertained to a most sumptuous supper, which was heartily partaken of. After all had done justice to the fine spread an adjournment was made to the parlor where games and amusements of every kind were provided. During the evening speeches were made by Messrs. J. E. McDermid, Ed. Doyle, L. Tracy, W. Kennedy, Jas. Kennedy, John Murphy, M. O'Connor, Dr. Nunan and others, and songs by Messrs. Waldman, Kennedy, Aylward, Murphy, O'Connor, and others.

FROM BELLEVILLE. To the Editor of the Catholic Record. DEAR SIR.—In the last number of the RECORD I noticed the following:—"We beg to congratulate the good Catholics of Carleton Place on the appointment of the Rev. Father O'Donohoe, late of Belleville, to the pastoral charge of their new mission. In Father O'Donohoe they will find a most earnest and devoted priest." I might be permitted to say that the above is but a very slight tribute to the grand character of Father O'Donohoe. The few words in the address presented to Father O'Donohoe on his removal from this city, but vaguely expressed the deep sorrow that every member of this large parish felt at his departure from them. We all know something of his ceaseless and unselfish labors amongst us, but none but the great God for whose love he worked, in season and out of season, has anything but a vague conception of the good he accomplished during his short sojourn here. Father O'Donohoe is a man who cares nothing for self. His whole time and attention is given to the well-being of those entrusted to his care, and many a wandering soul which he has rescued from its perilous position, will forever bless him. An earnest and eloquent preacher, his words were listened to with attention and went home to the hearts of his hearers. Yes, Carleton Place may well feel proud of its priest, for few grander characters ever adorned this diocese. T. H. Belleville, Oct. 6, 1884.

THE BOTHWELL BAZAAR. The grand drawing of prizes will (D. V.) take place without fail in Bothwell, on December 29th, 1884. This is the last postponement. Ticket holders are requested to forward duplicates at their earliest convenience. Persons sending $1.00 will be entitled to a chance of special mention at the late Western Fair was that of the Canada Business College, Chatham, Ont., in the penmanship line. For a number of years this institution has been wonderfully successful in turning out first class penmen and carrying off the first prizes wherever it has competed. This year was no exception as far as the prizes went, as it carried off all the firsts, and the display made was an exception, as it exceeded all previous exhibits and included many magnificent specimens from the hands of students. One of them, a boy only fifteen years of age, displayed extraordinary skill and executed many specimens on the spot, showing the genuineness of the work and claims made. The success of this College in the past and the wonderfulness of the work done there, are now so well known as to need no comments from us. We can simply say, long may it continue to flourish.

SOME years since, the Mason & Hamilton Co. of the city of Montreal, in connection with the improvement of upright pianos, which commended itself to their large experience as musical instrument makers, as promising to be of very great practical value. Realizing the fact that such an improvement rarely comes into existence perfect from the start, they have been for several years experimenting with perfecting and testing it. At last they announce complete success, and the pianos with this improvement, which they have commenced to manufacture and sell, produce more pure, musical notes, and are more durable than those without it. They are more durable, and more easily tuned than other pianos, and will stand much better in tune.—Boston Journal.

In presenting our Moulded Bees Wax Candles to the public and especially to the Reverend Clergy and Religions, we wish to say that we have now succeeded in producing a perfectly pure Moulded Bees Wax Candle, which has heretofore been deemed almost impossible owing to the peculiar nature of bees wax. However, by means of special appliances which we have perfected after years of labor and study, we are now enabled to turn out pure Bees Wax Candles from moulds, unequalled for beauty of finish, compactness, and uniformity of burning qualities. We make both the White (bleached) and the Yellow (unbleached) Candles in sizes 2, 3, 4, 6, 8 & 10 the pound. Ask your dealer for R. Eckermann & Will's Moulded Bees Wax Candles, and take no other. Yours respectfully, R. ECKERMANN & WILL, STUYVESANT, N. Y. For sale by D. & J. SADDLER & Co., Montreal, P. Q.; THOS. COFFEY, London, Ont.
