

MR. EDEN PHILLPOTTS' LATEST NOVELS

Brunel's Tower

By EDEN PHILLPOTTS

Author of "The Three Brothers," "Faith Tresilion," etc.

Cloth, 12mo, $1.50

The regeneration of a faulty character through association with dignified honest work and simple, sincere people is the theme which Mr. Phillpotts has chosen for his latest novel. Always an artist, he has, in this book, made what will perhaps prove to be his most notable contribution to literature. Humor and a genuine sympathetic understanding of the human soul are reflected throughout it. The scene is largely laid in a pottery, and the reader is introduced in the course of the action to the various processes in the art. The central figure is a lad who, having escaped from a reform school, has sought shelter and work in the pottery. Under the influence of the gentle, kindly folk of the community he comes in a measure to realize himself.

Faith Tresilion

Decorated cloth, 12mo, $1.35

"A book that is distinctly interesting." — New York Herald.

"No character that Mr. Phillpotts has created can surpass that of Emma Tresilion." — Boston Times.

"It is a very readable story." — The Outlook.

"A book of stirring adventure and sensational experiences."
— Literary Digest.

"Never had Eden Phillpotts written so swinging a romance."
— Bellman.

"A rattling good story." — Los Angeles Times.

---

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY

Publishers 94-96 Fifth Avenue New York