No Report

At City Council on Proposed Removal of City Yards.

There was no report presented at the council meeting last night from the special committee that was appointed to investigate the matter of establishing a more central corporation yard. This was a disappointment to a number of the aldermen who will ask for the report at the next meeting of the council. The committee are unanimously in favor of a certain site centrally located in the city. Some of the city fathers are of the opinion that action should be taken in the matter at once and not to allow the matter to "dilly-dally" along. A more centrally located yard is necessary, and it is up to the committee to get busy and bring in their report, so say some of the aldermen.

Conspirators

rett, Mrs. Beatrice Sanders, Miss Annie Kenney, Miss Laura Linnox, and the analytical chemist, Clayton, all surrendered to their bail.

In the course of to-day's hearing the printers of the militants' newspaper, the Suffragette, told the story of the negotiations which led to the undertaking of the work. Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, they said, had conducted the negotiations, and in reply to the fears expressed by the printers that the job was a dangerous one, gave her personal undertaking that no offensive or illegal matter should appear. She laid stress on the point that her daughter, Christabel Pankhurst, had received a legal training and was a specialist in constitutional law.

The interesting revelation was made on the witness stand that the militant organization, the Women's Social and Political Union, had paid for the printing of the action address of George Lansbury, the former Socialist member of Parliament, which failed to secure his election.

Catharine Strange, the proprietress of a tea pavilion that was burned in Kew Gardens by the militant suffragettes, described a visit she made to Miss Rebecca Kerr after the destruction. Miss Kerr told her that she took much too personal a view of the matter. No doubt, said Miss Kerr, the women employed in the tea pavilion, although thrown out of their jobs, would ultimately be very glad that they lent a helping hand to their fellow-women. Anyway, she continued, the only means of using the Government was to attack private property, and this the militant suffragettes intended to continue to do until they had obtained the vote.

Little Boy

Was Painfully Burned While Playing With Fire-Crackers.

Walter Dick, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dick, Wellington St., was badly burned about the stomach and arms on Saturday afternoon. The little chap was in company with other children playing on the street and were setting off fire crackers, and while setting off a "Squib," as the youngsters call it, the blaze from the crackers set the little boy's clothes on fire. He might have been burned to death had it not been for the prompt action taken in extinguishing the flames. As it was he was badly burned and medical aid was immediately summoned.

An Indian Claim

Major Gordon J. Smith, Superintendent of Indian Affairs here, has prepared a mass of evidence in connection with the pecuniary claim of the Cayuga Indians which is to be presented at the Tribunal Council which is being held in Washington, D.C. The Indians claim $200,000 for land which was taken from them by the United States Government after the War of Independence. The Tribunal consists of, besides President Fromageot, the two national arbitrators, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, Chief Justice of Canada, and Chandler P. Anderson, formerly Counselor of the Department of State. The two Governments are represented by C. J. B. Hurst, Agent for Great Britain, and Robert Lansing, Agent for the United States. The claims will be argued on behalf of the United States by J. Reuben Clark jun., former Solicitor of the State Department; Arthur P. McKinstry, H. H. D. Pierce and Charles F. Wilson, and on behalf of Great Britain by E. L. Newcombe, Canadian Deputy Minister of Justice and other British counsel. The joint secretaries of the Tribunal are Robt. A. Young, for the United States and A. C. Kerr of the British Embassy.

Will Break Strike

men engaged locally and some imported, about twenty men having been brought to this city as strike breakers.

There was no sign of interference to first cars. In addition to the crews each car carried a policeman. The possibility of a general sympathy strike on behalf of the street car men was the outstanding feature of the strike situation here to-day.

It is said that London society is very brightly colored as to costume this season, and every week some new touch of brilliancy appears. A small square silk handkerchief containing at least three vivid colors that clash in a pattern suggesting a nightmare, is the latest arrival. This gives a splash of color to a sober tailor-made. It shrieks at the beholder from a small breast-pocket, or, failing a pocket, it is tucked into the front of the coat.

May and February were held by the ancient Romans to be the months in the year which were certain to bring ill-luck, while even the church before the time of the Reformation, placed a ban upon all marriages contracted between the first Sunday of Advent and Hilary day, between September Sunday and Low Sunday, and between Rogation and Trinity Sunday. This only 22 weeks of the year were left by the Church for marrying.

"Marry in Lent and you will live to repent. Marry in May and you will rue the day."

Queen Mary has consented to perform the opening ceremony of a new hospital at Weston, Ontario, early in June. Her Majesty will visit Canada for the purpose, but at Buckingham Palace will press a button, to close the circuit of an electric current which will set in motion machinery by which the doors of the new institution will be opened. The Duke of Connaught sought her Majesty's consent to perform the ceremony. The hospital, which is to bear Her Majesty's name, has been erected by the National Sanatorium association, for the accommodation of children suffering from tuberculosis. King Edward, during the last year of his reign, opened a new university at Montreal from the residence of the late Mr. W. James, in Sussex, by means similar to those being employed in June, and the Duke of Connaught, a few years ago, electrically unveiled the statue placed in St. James' Park to the memory of the engineers who fell in South Africa, whilst himself attending a service in St. Paul's cathedral.

King Nicholas, the warrior king of Montenegro is the author of a play. Major G. J. Smith of the 25th Dragoons reports that he has been able to secure all the horses that will be required by A Squadron for camp purposes. Commanders of other squadrons report likewise.

The Railway Co. was represented by Dr. A. B. Gutchie, while Dr. R. W. Devereaux and Dr. Porter looked after the interests of James Nightingale of the Brantford Ice Company.
