"They are trying with a blare of trumpets to banish the bar but hold on to the jug." "I say a clergyman has no moral right to take this question into the pulpit and denounce, as bad citizens and worse men, those who do not agree with him on this particular subject. We are all agreed on the evils of the traffic, but we have no right to accuse another that the methods he defends are bad and that he is bad because he defends them. "This action has already done unlimited injury to the temperance cause, and if they go on they will strike such a blow at the influences of the churches of this province as will be felt for a generation to come. I call on all good and true men in their congregations to resent in a way they will not forget this desecration of the pulpit."

Men on the List Will Not be Served---Matter Never Contemplated.

The hotelkeepers and liquor dealers of this city give an absolute denial to the report in the Expositor last night that men who have been denied liquor by the Association are to be served with the same. No such action has been contemplated by the Association, and the following signed statement was presented to this paper to-day;

June 25th, 1914. To the Editor of the Courier; Sir,-It having been reported to the Hotel Keepers' Association of Brantford that they have called off the list of men, which they decided at a meeting some time ago should not be served with liquor, we, the undersigned hotel keepers and proprietors of liquor stores of the City of Brantford, wish to give said report a flat denial, and wish the general public to know that the said report has not a word of truth in it in any manner, shape or form.
