"INVICTUS" DESCRIBES OLD ST. KITTS

Canadian Courier Correspondent Takes a Wrap at the Garden City in Several Ways.

The following article appeared in the Canadian Courier of May 10th, 1919, by "Invictus."

A COST-OF-LIVING ILLUSION St. Catharines, Ont., is as pretty a city as the sun shines on. It is the largest town on the Welland Canal.

Butter and eggs are not produced for sale on these fruit farms. Fruit itself brings the top city price, rents are high because houses are scarce and because taxes are thirty one mills on the dollar, and the taxes began to be high years ago when exemptions were granted to certain big industries and when a real estate gang got themselves elected to the Council, carried through a low assessment measure on their subdivided properties and above through civic improvements at such a rate that the busy newspaper camera of one reformer Burgoyne, observed grass growing over new cement sidewalks built into the vacant subdivisions. No there is no pastoral innocence about St. Catharines.

"THE FALSE FACES" BASED ON VANCE'S POPULAR ROMANCE

Character of "The Lone Wolf" Provides Fine Role for Henry B. Walthall.

Louis Joseph Vance who wrote "The False Faces" which recounts the further adventures of the now reformed "Lone Wolf," and which was pictured by Thomas H. Ince as a Paramount-Artcraft special feature, is one of America's most popular novelists. His stories are read with avidity by all who care for action, swift moving plot character delineation and intricate happenings.

Among his more popular stories, aside from "False Faces," which appeared recently in a serial in the Saturday Evening Post, may be named "The Lone Wolf," "Joan Thursday," "The Destroying Angel," "The Black Bag," etc., etc. His books are usually among the six best sellers. They have, however, more real character than most popular novels, because the writer is an artist as well as a gifted romancer.

ARGYLL HOUSE DEFENDED BY SIR EDWARD KEMP

Overseas Minister of Militia Takes his Seat in the House of Commons for First Time During the Session.

Ottawa, May 13.—For the first time since the Union Government was formed Sir Edward Kemp of East Toronto took his seat in the House of Commons this afternoon. The Overseas Minister of Militia left Toronto for London before the result of the election was announced and has not since been in the Capital when the House was in session. He had a cordial reception from Government supporters upon entering the Commons chamber, but the questions fired at him indicated that he will have ample opportunity later to defend Canada's Overseas War Office, better known as Argyll House, the headquarters of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in London.

Kemp Defends Argyll House Nor is the Overseas Minister prepared for criticism. He brought with him a bulky report of the doings of the Canadian Expeditionary Force in England and France, copies of which were distributed to members of the House and Senate and the press, and he intimated that he would give an account of his stewardship and reply to his critics after a brief holiday in Toronto. He claims that Argyll House is inhabited not by shockers and safety first soldiers, but by very competent professional men, doctors, bankers and the like, who are, at great personal sacrifice, serving their country in the trying period of demobilization. Moreover, he says, they have saved Canada millions of dollars by masterly administration of our forces across the sea. He is going to show up Colonel A. C. Pratt, M.P.P., Brig.-General Smart, M.P.P., and others who have said nasty things about the way business was transacted by Sir George Pailey, Sir Edward Kemp and company.

LONDON TIMES PROPOSES NEW OVERSEA UN

An Imperial Guards Regiment to Keep Alive Tradition in British Military Life.

London, May 13.—The Times in a leader says: "It is unthinkable that no single army should be left where in the spirit of the mighty Imperial army, which displayed to an astounded world the real power of the British Empire, may survive. There must be some Imperial unit of the army, if only to keep alive the Dominion tradition in British military life." Therefore it suggests the establishment of a regiment of Imperial Guards, with its home in Britain but commanded, officered and manned by the Dominions. The regiment might comprise two battalions, one composed of Canadians, South Africans and Newfoundlanders, and the other of Anzacs. The Times says this is only a tentative suggestion and it leaves India out on this account. It is thus plainly open to criticism and revisions, but could easily be modified if necessary.
