His Excellency Lectures at the Institute.

His Excellency Sir W. E. Davidson lectured to a large and appreciative audience at the King George Institute last evening, taking as his subject, "The Causes and Progress of the Present War." The discourse was the first of a series, that has been arranged by the Literary Committee of the Grenfell Association, to take place during the autumn and winter season, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the Patriotic Fund. At 8 p.m. His Excellency the Governor accompanied by Lady Davidson, entered the Grenfell Hall, where they were welcomed by members of the Committee. Hon. W. C. Job announced the object of the lectures and proposed concerts to be held during the season, and introduced His Excellency, who had graciously consented to open the series of lectures. He then asked the Governor, before beginning his discourse, to uncover the autograph portraits of President Wilson, ex-President Taft and Roosevelt, which were recently presented to the Institute. Referring to the generous support given by Americans in the past, and their guarantee of the same support in the future, His Excellency uncovered the portraits of the scholars Wilson, President of the United States, the genial William H. Taft, and the manly Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, ex-Presidents. The portraits chosen by the Governor in referring to these men seemed most fitting, and called forth the applause of the large gathering present. These portraits bear the following writings:

"To my valued friend, Dr. Grenfell."
—WOODROW WILSON.
"For the International Grenfell Association with best wishes for its continued great usefulness."
—WILLIAM H. TAFT.

"Presented to the International Grenfell Association with all good wishes, from
—THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
Turning to his subject, "The Causes and Progress of the Present War," His Excellency took his hearers back to the days of Bismarck, and in a very lucid manner showed that the initiators of that great man, though they lacked his brains, had succeeded in routing the ambitions of Emperor William to become ruler of the world. When the German army was believed to be a perfect fighting machine competent to deal with any possible obstacles on land, the Kaiser turned his attention to her navy, hoping by this means to overcome England. Of his superiority on land he had not the shadow of a doubt, but the sea held for him many misgivings, which caused him to spare no expense, and use every possible device to equip a navy to rival that of Britain. In his calculations as to her inferiority

St. John's Lady Master of Arts.

Miss Rose Carmichael has passed her final examination at Edinburgh University and graduated as an M. A. word to that effect having been received in the city yesterday by her father, Mr. James Carmichael. This is a unique success, as it is supposed to be the first time a Newfoundland lady ever attained such a distinction. Miss Carmichael received her early training at the Presbyterian College under Principals Wilson and Garriock, respectively. In 1910 she established her first precedent by winning the Jubilee Scholarship. That same year she passed the London Matriculation Examination in the first division. In the associate grade she passed with high honors, leading the class in French and Latin. In 1911, or exactly three years ago, Miss Carmichael left St. John's for Edinburgh, where her remarkable success continued. Her scholastic career has been a brilliant one. Miss Carmichael will be embarking shortly for her shores on a visit to her parents. It is not yet known what the gifted graduate has chosen to be her future. Newfoundland is always proud to hear of the success of her sons and daughters and in this instance is especially pleased to rejoice. We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael on the success of their daughter, who is a credit to them and to her Alma Mater.

African Chief's Loyal Offers of Aid

TO BRITAIN.
London, Oct. 15.—The Chief of Basutoland, in Africa, has sent to King George a message in which he expresses the fervent loyalty of his people and himself to the Empire. His message says in part:
"I ask whether, as my King is engaged in fighting his enemies, I, his servant, will be doing well to keep aloof, watching him being attacked. As I am unable to be with my King in person, I beg to know whether I may show my loyalty and the loyalty of the Basutos by giving monetary assistance, to be raised by calling on each Basuto to pay the sum of one shilling as a contribution to the funds now being raised for the relief of sufferers. The Basutos and myself are grieved at seeing our King attacked by his enemies when we, the servants, cannot assist him." This offer has been gratefully accepted by the Government.
An expression of loyalty has also been received from Lewanika, Chief of the Barotse tribe of Northern Rhodesia. He adds:
"My Indunas and myself want to call in all our people and, then, when they are here, we shall tell them to make ready for war to help the Government. We shall stand always under the English flag, under which we have remained for years in peace."

The Silk Hat Soldier.

(British colonists resident in London volunteer, and not even silk hats are doffed before training begins.)—Daily Paper.

I saw him in a picture, and I felt I'd like to cry—
He stood in line,
The man "for mine,"
A tall silk hatted "guy"—
Right on the call,
Silk hat and all,
He'd hurried to the cry—
For he loved England well enough for England to die.

I've seen King Harry's helmet in the Abbey hanging high—
The one he wore
At Agincourt,
But braver to my eye
That city toff
To keep to doff
His stove-pipe—bless him—why?
For he loved England well enough for England to die.

And other fellows in that line had come, too, on the fly,
The boys and joys,
Brave English boys,
For good and all put by:
O you brave best,
Teach all the rest
How pure the heart and high
When one loves England well enough for England to die.

One threw his cricket bat aside,
One left the ink to dry;
All peace and play
He's put away,
And bid his love good-bye—
O mother mine!

O sweetheart mine!
No man of yours am I—
If I love not England well enough for England to die.

I guess it strikes a chill somewhere,
The bravest won't deny,
That you love
Away to shove,
And set your teeth to die;
But better dead,
Than lapped in peace to lie—
If we love not England well enough for England to die.

—Richard Le Gallienne.

We Are Lenient.

That we are a lenient people, or that our authorities are so, is amply justified in the case concerning a German named Otto Rusch, who left here on the Red Cross liner Stephano last evening on route to New York. Rusch served in the German army for an extensive period and was brought here from Germany some 10 or 12 years ago by the late Mr. Stein. Soon after his arrival here he secured a position as gardener and was not long before he acquired a property on the Portugal Cove Road, where he carried on a poultry raising industry. Since the outbreak of the present conflict Rusch, whenever he got in the back-ground, gave vent to his feelings concerning the war. He was known to express himself that he would like to be in the firing line with his fellow-countrymen, and used to show his exasperation whenever he heard of victories of the Allies. We had occasion to know quite recently that he was an out-and-out German. It is not long since we saw photographs of Rusch as he stood in the German army ranks with his regimentals on. So far as we can learn Rusch was never captured here, not even since war broke out. A few days ago, however, we learn that he was given timely advice to quit the country as quick as he could. Acting wisely on the hint he sold off his premises and left on the Stephano last evening. The question suggests itself with emphasis that we are too lenient. Why was he not held as a prisoner of war?

Jewish Wedding.

On Sunday evening the wedding of Miss Lillian Miller, sister of Mr. C. H. Miller, and Mr. Theodore Swedlin was solemnized at the residence of Mr. E. G. Gittelson, LeMarchant Rd. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Ershter, in Jewish fashion. The bride, who was handsomely dressed in silk crepe-de-midi, trimmed with pearls, wore a wreath and orange blossoms, carrying a bouquet of roses, was attended by Misses Mollie Goldstone and Gertrude Mosses. Harvey Goldstone and Mr. Miller acted as groomsmen. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Mr. C. H. Miller.

Supreme Court.

The case of the Commercial Cable Company vs. the Government of Newfoundland was continued to-day. Mr. Kent, G.C., was heard in closing. The court adjourned at 1.20 p.m. until 11 a.m. Monday, Nov. 2nd.

Published by Authority
The following Notice, issued by the Imperial Board of Trade, on the 16th September last, calling attention, in connection with the Government's War Insurance Scheme, to the necessity of complying strictly with all orders and directions given by the Admiralty as to routes, ports of call, stoppages, etc., is published for general information.

JOHN R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary,
Department of the Colonial Secretary, October 17th, 1914.

Government War Insurance Scheme.

It is an essential feature of the Government War Risks Insurance Scheme that all insured ships must obey implicitly all orders and directions given by the Admiralty as to routes, ports of call, stoppages, etc.
To avoid misapprehension on this point, the Board of Trade wish it to be clearly understood that this provision is intended to secure the safety of both ship and cargo, and that any deviation which may be rendered necessary in consequence of Admiralty orders or directions is in the interest of the cargo as well as of the ship. It is important that this fact should be borne in mind by all parties concerned in the shipment or carriage of goods on insured ships, and that in contracts of carriage the shipowner's obligation to comply with the Admiralty requirements should be fully recognized.
