Too Intense for

Nonsense.

Houston Post: Two years ago the alser gave vent to this splendid example of egotistical effrontery: "I shall stand no nonsense from Ameriafter the war." There are 500,000 American soldier boys carrying next their hearts faded flowers given them by sweethearts, mothers and sisters then the whispered order: "Place them on the grave of the Kaiser!"
After the war nonsense will not ap-ear to Emperor William. The heat will be too intense for nonsense.

The riddle fiend announced: "If I give two letters from 'money' one will be left. 'Curious, isn't it?'"
"Very," drawled the bored friend, but I can tell you something more curious."
"What's that?"
"A friend of mine took money from two letters, and now his wife and family are left!"—The Bits.
