Local Market.

(From the Trade Review.)

Codfish.—We understand since the close of the conference between the Fish Exporters and the Minister of Marine and Fisheries the Export Board has been almost continuously in session, that they have practically completed the compilation of the Regulations respecting shipments to all markets and the Regulations will be published within the next few hours.

Common Cod Oil.—Reports from New York and Boston this week state that very little interest is being taken in fish oil. There has been such a slump in vegetable and animal oil that dealers all think that fish oils are out of price in proportion and hence there is no buying worth while. The Norwegians have been forcing sales of Herring oil in New York, which indicates a poor demand in Europe. We hear of sales from $200 to $250 per ton in the local market this week, but until there is more business doing, there is no likelihood of these top prices being continued.

Cod Liver Oil.—We regret to record that Cod Liver Oil has this week taken a decidedly weak turn. There is very little selling and the fact that there is none worth while coming in from the Outpost, indicates holding for better price. We see reduced prices for livers for the balance of the season as $1.20 per gallon is the best price obtainable here to-day. It may be even less before long.

Lobsters.—The U. S. demand for Lobsters remains poor and there are few shipments going out. The price has fallen to $20.00 and there is a rush to buy even at this figure. It is possible that the price may improve later in the season, and those who are holding off may do better. The voyage is practically over and the catch is said to be nearly double that of last year.

Pork.—The market is unsettled and decidedly weak according to recent reports from various American sources. An attempt is being made by the Packers to maintain present prices; but the disappointing foreign demand makes this a difficult problem for them. In this regard, the Pork industry in the United States is in a somewhat similar position to our codfish business. The gain in domestic consumption of Hog products has not offset the decrease in the exports and even with smaller packing the export movement has failed to remove the surplus. It looks from this, as though there will be a still further decline. In the local market Ham Butt remains $54.00, others $42.00 to $54.00.

Beef.—The Beef market is stronger since our last issue, and Cattle advances received yesterday show advances of $1.00 a barrel all round. Scarcity of high grade cattle is noticeable, and a brisk demand lately for beef products seems to account for the recent strength. There are fair stocks held in local hands, which were bought before the advance. The $1 increase in Chicago alluded to will not therefore affect local prices, and Fall buyers will accordingly reap the benefit of Importers' beef speculations when they come to buy. The St. John's quotations range from $23.00 for Plate to $26 for Special Family; Boneless is $25 to $31.

Sugar.—Stronous efforts are being made by those responsible for the prevailing high prices of sugar to persuade themselves and others that their action was justifiable. In spite of all these protestations, Brokers are ready to sell best American Granulated sugar at 14½c, less 2% cash per 100 pounds. It is of no interest to the public here to be told of higher offers. What they are looking for is the lowest price. The predictions for higher sugar later are also of no interest to the public. If there was no Food Control Board at all and the trade was left to the importers, they would survey the existing outlook, and some of them would speculate at to-day's low price and protect the public by their enterprise and secure enough sugar for the fall needs. This they would do as in the past at their own risk, without asking the Government for any assistance. Our local price to-day is 32 cents retail and 27½ cents wholesale; whereas if there had been no blundering the public would be getting sugar around 20 cents per pound.

Molasses.—The molasses imports were increased this week by the arrival of the schooner "Dazzle" with 241 puncheons and 75 barrels. The total at St. John's is now about 7,130 puncheons, as compared with 3,900 this date last year. It looks now as if the shortage will not be so great as was anticipated. The local price of Fancy is $1.70 to $1.80 per gallon and Choice $1.50 to $1.70.

Oats.—Just now oats are very scarce, but there are some consignments (old) coming from Montreal by next steamer. Judging from the reports of the big crops in Canada, oats are certain to be lower in late October when the first new come in. The quotation for old to-day is $6.50 to $7.20, according to quality. The steamer that is leaving Montreal September 17th will bring sufficient old to keep the market going till the new oats are ready.

Poison in Golf Ball.

Analyst's View of Girl's Strange Death.

Considerable interest was aroused a fortnight ago by the strange death of a Blackburn girl, named Ivy Taylor, (says an exchange.) It will be recalled that she was playing in the back yard of her home with a golf ball which she was peeling with her teeth. Suddenly she ran into the house and said she had swallowed some liquid from the ball. She succumbed a few days later, and a post-mortem examination revealed the fact that death was due to the clotting of the blood caused by ulceration of the air passages. The doctor said he did not know what was contained in the golf ball, but it was evident the child had inhaled some irritant. At the request of the girl's father, the coroner adjourned the inquest in order that the contents of the ball could be analysed.

The inquiry was later resumed, and Dr. Bryce, house surgeon of the Royal Infirmary, produced the analyst's certificate, which stated that the core of the golf ball was liquid which was contained in a rubber pouch with a small tubular opening which was tied with a piece of rubber tape. This pouch was enclosed by a thick rubber jacket. Most of the liquid had leaked out, but what was remaining on the side had a strong alkaline reaction. The basic principle present was silicate of soda, and it was probable that the pouch had been filled with a sodium silicate jelly mixture.

Answering the coroner the doctor said this would be sufficient to cause death as described, and a verdict of "Accidental death" was returned.

Bishop Spencer College and Spencer Lodge!

The Directors of the Church of England College desire to announce that they have been able to make very satisfactory arrangements for the management of Bishop Spencer College and Spencer Lodge during the coming year.

It is with the greatest regret that the Board has received the resignation of Miss E. G. Stirling, who, after conducting Bp. Spencer College for many years with the greatest success and bringing it to the highest point of efficiency in its history, has, acting under medical advice, decided to retire.

The Board has, however, been fortunate in obtaining the services as Headmistress of Miss A. M. Richards, who is expected to arrive from England by an early steamer. Miss Richards was educated at St. Leonard's College, St. Hilda's College, Oxford, and at the University of London, where she obtained the degree of B.A. She has also received training at the Cambridge Training College, and holds the Cambridge Teachers' Diploma. She has had extensive teaching experience in England and has taught for a short time in Constantinople, besides serving in the Q. M. A. C. in France during part of the war period. The Directors expect, from personal and other recommendations, that she will be found a most capable Headmistress for Bishop Spencer College.

Spencer Lodge, the College Boarding House for girls, will be in charge of Miss Sargent, who has just arrived from England. Miss Sargent has had extensive experience of administrative work in schools in England at Bournemouth, Ascot, Malvern, and elsewhere, and during the war was employed in organizing work for the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The Board feel that under her management Spencer Lodge will be so conducted as to give the utmost satisfaction to parents of boarders.
