The Real Enemies of Newfoundland.

"Who are Newfoundland's enemies?" asks the Advocate in a leaded display type. Our contemporary should know without asking, for the real enemies of this unhappy country can be found within the precincts of the office of that newspaper. Newfoundland has had no greater enemy than the man whom the Advocate is so fond of boosting. Ever since the advent of that individual and his party of obligated followers to political power, they have constituted the greatest danger, became the gravest menace, and established the direst peril. Newfoundland is threatened to-day by these men, not because of anything they might do of their own volition and initiative, but because they are practically sworn to follow their leader, and no matter by what devious paths he may lead them, they have no alternative but to follow the course set. It is all very fine to make a speciality of gulling the fishermen. A pastmaster in that gentle art, the Advocate never fails to get in his insidious work. But the fisherman is beginning to get wise and sets no premium on Advocate scare and sensational write-ups. Taught in the bitter school of experience the producer—the toiler if you will—has had all the tuition that he desires of the Coakerian pedagogues. He has begun to think for himself, and the more he thinks the more his faith in "wordy" promises grows less. The iniquitous Fish Regulations proved solidly to the fishermen that they were not the secure mooring they were alleged to be. Other things too have assisted in removing the hoodwink from the eyes of the "underdog," a hoodwink placed over them for the purpose of strutting their vision to the goings on. But they have torn off the bandage and have seen for themselves in all its hideousness the spectre of depression stalking throughout the land; depression produced by the very regulations that were told them were to be their salvation. When the Regulations became law, why were they not kept so? If they were all that was claimed, surely the hostility of the Opposition and the Opposition press did not, could not, render them of no effect. No, the whole truth is that the arch enemies of Newfoundland were at their base work when these same Regulations were made operative, and having accomplished their designs, even with much more success than they dreamed, they are now busily engaged in concealing their own action under a plenitude of printers ink and by transparent charges through which a blind man could see. These men and their accessories are the real enemies of Newfoundland.

Trapper Shot From Behind.

ROBERT S. JAMES MURDERED BY ESQUIMAUX.

Following on the investigations of Sergt. Joy of the R.N.W.M.P., three Esquimaux have been arrested for the murder of Robert S. James, Newfoundland trapper, whose death in Baffin Land, over two years ago, was shrouded in mystery. The body of the murdered trapper was found at Pond's Inlet in an excellent state of preservation. There were two bullet wounds in the back. The Esquimaux, who were James' companions, have confessed to the murder. They will be held at Pond's Inlet all winter and will be tried by a special court from Ottawa in the Spring. James' death was first reported by Capt. Munn of a trading vessel, who said that James had decided to travel by dog team to Port Churchill. He proceeded 180 miles south, but had to return and it was his return trip that he was murdered. Mrs. R.S. James, the mother of the murdered trapper, is living in St. John's.

"Wet Gold" at the Nickel To-Night.

SCENES NEVER BEFORE SEEN BY HUMAN EYE.

The management of the Nickel offers to the amusement loving public to-night a picture of unusual sensational interest. The title is "Wet Gold." It has been considered by the "wise men" of motion pictures as the most daring of all screen achievements. It takes the spectator to the uttermost depths of the ocean. The trail skims down the Atlantic seaboard, passes the Havana Race Track, dips to a lost tale in the tropics and then plunges to the very floor of the ocean, where men in grotesque diving suits come to death-grips for the treasure. "Wet Gold" sizzles with thrills and teems with scenes never before seen by the human eye. During the making of this picture a faulty manipulation of the air valves in a submarine kept the lives of several of the actor-divers. The submarine rose to the surface, then listed almost 40 degrees. With rare presence of mind, the men inside opened the hatch and crawled into the water. To their intense relief, the submarine finally righted itself. This is some picture although we say it ourselves.

Mrs. Harold J. King will be "At Home" to her friends on Thursday, October 5th, from 3 to 5, at her residence, Southside Road, West.—oct3,251

Naval Prize Money.

We learn from the G.W.V.A. that they are now in receipt of a reply to their cablegram to the High Commissioners Office, London, soliciting their influence in arranging to have the forms covering the payment of Prize Money expedited. It is intimated that those forms will be forwarded by the S.S. Sachem leaving October 12th. This should allow of their distribution on or about October 20th. We are asked to state that application for those forms will not be considered as yet, as it has not been decided as to what form the distribution will take, or by whom.

First Nfld. War Memorial in France.

NOW ERECTED AT GUEDECOURT.

Padre Nangle has cabled Lt.-Col. W. F. Rendell that the first Caribou has been erected at Guedecourt and that they are now working on the second, which will be erected at Cambrai. The Department of Militia are shipping a quantity of native shrubs, trees and evergreens to England. The first shipment goes forward to France by S.S. Silvia, via Montreal. These will be placed in the Beaumont Hamel Park as a Battle Exploits Memorial. The Caribou Memorial already erected at Guedecourt has a very imposing prominence, and will mark an epoch in the annals of the 1st Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Other Memorials of similar designs will be erected at Cambrai, Beaumont Hamel, Monchy Le Preux, and it is hoped at Kieberg in Belgium. Beside the Caribou Memorials, Bronze Tablets and Flags will be placed on the walls of the Cathedrals at Arras, Amiens, and Ypres.

Funeral Arrangements.

BODY OF SERGT. JAMES L. BUCK DUE BY SILVIA TOMORROW.

The body of the late Sergt. James L. Buck, who was killed with the American Forces in France arrives by S.S. Silvia tomorrow. Arrangements have been made for the funeral to take place from Harvey's Pier at 11.30 a.m., enroute to the Railway Station where his body will be forwarded to his late home at Conception Hr. by the 1 o'clock express. Undertaker A. Camell has charge of the funeral arrangements and will have the casket uncased on arrival. It is expected that the American Consul and Vice-Consul will attend the funeral, and all ex-service men whose time will permit, are asked to be present at the funeral. It is indeed fitting that a countryman of ours who gave his life in the Great Cause should not be forgotten in its home coming. It is therefore hoped that the ex-service men at least will attend this funeral. Citizens who would like to attend are also asked to be present.

The plaintiff said the accused had used bad language before her children. His Honor: "He is a good husband in other ways." Witness: "He gives me his earnings but he is not always good." His Honor: "You can't expect an angel these days. After all, you married him for better or for worse." Accused was discharged.

Analyst Puzzled.

ASKED TEMPERATURE OF POLICEMAN'S POCKET.

The temperature of a policeman's pocket was discussed in a Police Court case this morning when a resident of the Blackhead Road was charged with selling overproof beer. It was stated by a police witness that numerous complaints were made of drunks on the defendant's premises and two constables were sent out to investigate. One witness said he had tasted the beer and was afterwards remarked that it was not very strong. He admitted that later he had said it was strong. His Honor: "It was only beginning to work then." The Government Analyst stated that the beer contained 2.7 per cent. alcohol. Counsel for the defence asked if the beer could have fermented while in the constable's pocket. Witness did not think so, and was unable to answer the Judge, who inquired if he knew the temperature of a policeman's pocket. Accused had been before court previously and had not yet paid the instalment on a fine then imposed. On the promise that he would not brew beer again he was allowed to go on suspended sentence.
