DEPRECIATING CANADA.

The most unfortunate part of the entire naval discussion is the tendency on the part of some people to depreciate Canada and to ridicule our aspirations and underestimate our ability.

For instance, we are told that we cannot build a navy. Mr. Winston Churchill has informed us solemnly and emphatically that we cannot hope to build a navy, and our government, instead of resenting this imputation upon our enterprise, glories in it.

Whether or not the ships for a Canadian navy are built in Canada is a detail in the Laurier naval policy. It is a matter of argument whether it would be better to build the larger ships in Canada or have them built in England.

With the Calgary Bronchos being held fast in the baseball game by the meek and lowly Eskimos, while High River was wallowing over young men on the lacrosse field, perhaps some Calgary people will now believe that Friday the Thirteenth, does mean something.

If any long-suffering people ever had ground for a mild but persistent roar, they reside in Calgary and to the north side of the Bow river.

Public works can go merrily onward, season after season but the hand of the improver becomes paralyzed as soon as it crosses the Bow river.

The Morning Albertan plant and offices were destroyed by fire two months ago next Friday. The Albertan hopes to be printed entirely by itself on the Bow river.

A B. C. member of parliament announced the details of the redistribution of seats for that province, showing that Vancouver is to get three members.

The greatest change in modern business came with the One-Price System. This has all been brought about since the Civil War.

The old idea was for the seller to get as much as he possibly could for everything he sold. Since that time, however, the seller has been considered quite right and proper.

The change only came after a struggle and we are not always quite sure of the one price. But we have gotten ten times far that the man who cheats in trade is taboo.

100 Cents' Worth for a Dollar AND THEN SOME

Being better dressed or more appropriately clothed, having more attractive furnishings in your home, or having better table board than your neighbor, doesn't necessarily mean that you have more money to spend.

The same qualities of mind and intellect which make one merchant a shrewd purchaser than another make you a better manager of your expenditure.

The buying organization of the Hudson's Bay Company know all the ins and outs of the buying markets of the world and how merchandise in every line is best bought.

And there is no great reason why every individual should not get 100 cents' worth for every dollar spent, and often more, for himself and family.
