There is trouble in amateur boating circles in Detroit. A promising rowing man there, says a Centennial, has jeopardized himself, and calls the attention of the Detroit Boat club to article 3 of N. A.A.O. rules, which says an amateur is one whose membership of any rowing or other athletic club was not brought about or does not continue because of any mutual agreement or understanding expressed or implied, whereby his becoming or continuing a member of such club would be of any pecuniary benefit to him, direct or indirect. It is a fact, openly stated, that the inducement offered McMahon to join the Detroit club was the promise of stunction. It would not now, the gentleman in question says, "put in my oar but for the Detroits a very thin coat of whitewash. I beg to state, and know whereof I speak, that the Detroit club in the person of Mr. Phil. Miller did make overtures to members of the Centennial crew to desert their club and join the Detroites. It may be all right, but for an amateur club to entice to their ranks the crew of their rival's is certainly an original way of earning aquatic honors." Temperance people are very much discouraged because they have discovered that even freighters cannot get along without their bumpers.

*That wonderful catholicon known as Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has liven the lady a world-wide reputation for doing good. It is like a living spring to the vital constitution. Her Blood Purifier will do more to cleanse the channels of the circulation and purify the life of the body than all the sanitary devices of the Board of Health.

Liberalism is creeping into all churches; but the poor preachers notice that it has not yet struck the contribution box.

Facts and Figures.

The first year's sales of that popular blood and liver purifying tonic—Burdock Blood Bitters—was upwards of 50,000 bottles; the second year it exceeded 100,000, with rapid and constant increase. It is a meritorious medicine.

HOUNDED TO SUICIDE. An Infamous Charge by a Woman Instign

Self-Destruction.
From the London Telegraph. Yesterday's inquiry into the suicide at Hounslow, although it made but little T. progress, and terminated in an unusually early adjournment, for nearly a week, tended in no way to diminish but rather to increase the growing public excitement as a bev rage during heavy colds, in regard to the case. It was known on Wednesday, 27th ult., that Dr. William Whitfield Edwardes, a rising and highly popular medical man at Hounslow, had put an end to his life by taking a dose of prus-

> Supplies, some extent known that the wife of a P. S. Birds and Animals Stuffed to order.

workingman—the son of a cattle dealer in West Middlesex—had formulated and then retracted an infamous charge against Dr. Edwardes, that this had led to unpleasantness with his partner, Dr. Michael Whitmarsh, and that the deceased, a highly sensitive man, had been so overcome by the tive man, had been so overcome by the behavior of his colleague as to take his own life by an act of desperation. The emotion life by an act of desperation. The emotion awakened by these reports was intensified beyond expression by the coroner's inquiry. On the very threshold of eternity, Dr. Edwardes wrote the following letter, which, for the sake of completeness of narrative, it is necessary to reproduce here. It was found in one of his drawers, addressed to a nawananer, and marked "Important".

found in one of his drawers, addressed to a newspaper, and marked "Important."

Stanley House, Bath road, Hounslow, Dec. 27, 1882, 12:40 a.m.

Sir—A most foul and horrible charge has been brought against me by a wicked, designing womm. What the motive was, God only knows, unless we except the devil. Probably at first she had no thought of the awful consequences of the accusation she was making, and, once having made her lying statement, she felt bound to stick to it. However that may be, there is only one result for me, ruin. Such a charge against a medical man does not require substantiating: it is altogether enough to make it, and the man is lost for ever, as far as this world is concerned. I should have stood my ground, and faced the consequences of a trial, and, I firmly believe, have satisfied the jury of my innocence, and have put the woman on her trial for perjury, if it were not for that fiend in human form, my partner, Dr. Whitmarsh. This vile wretch, whom may God yet torment with all the tortures of hell, both in this world and the next clad God yet torment with all the tortures of hell, both in this world and the next, glad of any pretext for adding to his store of of any pretext for adding to his store of ill-gotten gains, brought pressure to bear on me to leave the practice and ran away from the neighborhood, and offered a mean £560 out of £1800 I paid him fourteen months ago, he to retain all book debts, valued by myself before Mr. Garrett and Mr. Lay at £1000. I merely mention this to show the motive of his conduct. What is the alternative he offered? That unless I go he will himself appear as a witness go he will himself appear as a witness against me, thus assuring my conviction, as what jury could acquit a man when his own partner pretends to believe in his guilt! I am now about to appear before my Maker. I cannot live dishonored, and dishonored I shall be whether I leave the neighborhood, or whether I stay to confront the perjured witness. At this awful moment I solemnly declare that I am innocent of the charge which has been brought against me, a charge which has its origin in the morbid imagination of a licentious-minded, hysterical woman. May God bless and keep my dear wife and little boys, my mother, and all for whom I shall pray. Amen. William Wmitfield Edwardes, M. D. Brux, M. R. C. S., L. S. A. go he will himself appear as a witness

R. C. S., L. S. A.

P. S.—I hope Mr. Barber will do the best he can for my dear ones. I would wish to leave everything to my wife, but pe chaps that is impossible without a a formally witnessed will.—WILLIAM WMITFIELD ED.

COCOA GRATEFUL-COMFORTING EPPS' COCOA

"By a thorough knowledge of the natura' aws which govern the operations of digestion and attrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selecte: Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provised our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored bevrage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up up unit strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may sexape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselver well fortified with pure blood and a properly nour ished frame."—Civil Service Gazes.
