To-night this bylaw comes up in the Council for its second reading, and the Council would do itself much credit by passing the same. So far the argument most used against the bill has been that drives will benefit rich mme. So far the argument most used against the bill has been that drives will benefit rich people only, and will be "no good" to the poor. But they who argue thus fall to take in all the facts. The right view to take is that each "drive" both can and should be made a continuous park, pleasant and suitable for common folks to take their walks in as well as for "carriage people" to drive over. And the grounds selected, the rayines especially, admis of being converted at small cost into pleasant people's walks. A huge misconception on this point has been assiduously cultivated by some; but let us hope it will not prevail with the voters when the time to vote comes.

sark are these. Nice grass, nice walks and plenty of shade. And one thing more we would add—plenty of seats free and always available, and not too penuriously distributed. In Toronto there can be found thousands of tired children, and of grown folks too, who will with one voice tell you that on a hot day in summer there is positively nothing so well-come as the shade of a tree and a seat to sit in. As a genuine popular want this leads all others when parks are in question. Now, the ravines admit of being easily made into one continuous park, one long luxury of coolness and shade with all the conveniences for stopping and taking a rest that anybody can desire. If this view be, as we think it will, adopted by the public, then the parks and drives bylav will yet carry its third reading by a large majority.

Finable Grass on the Fishlic Streets.

Toronto is becoming a big city and the rules that obtain in metropolitan cities for securing public order on the streets must be strictly followed here.

The fundamental rule is that the police are in charge of the streets, and that for the time being their rule is imperative and beyond question. No one has a right to question the offices, to argue with him, to resent his orders.

THE METHODIST PARLIAMENT_THE PARSON AND THE PERLER.

Bev. W. F. Wilson's Arrest and Fine Deelared to be an Outrage and an Insult to Methodism.—Referred to a Committee—

A Strong Resolution.

The Wilson-Javis "unpleasantness" struck the Toronto Conference on Saturday morning like a tornado. Nothing that has occurred in police circles for many years has created so much talk about town. The Police Magistrates and Officer Jarvis were handled without gloves to the Globe, Empire and Telegram of Saturday. The Telegram took such a severe view of Jarvis' case that an action for libel against that paper by the policeman will be entered at once. Everyone in town was discussing the case, and as usual the police for the man comes in for a big share of abuse.

Rev. Dr. Dewart introduced the matter at the Conference. At the morning session he moved that the rules of order be suspended to enable him to submit an urgent subject. Although Chairman Carman demurred, the members of conference scented the battle and suspended the rules of order. Then Dr. Dewart and Mr. Thomas Thompson offered this resultation:

art and Mr. Thomas Thompson offered this resolution:

Whereas on the evening of the 18th inst, the Rev. W. F. Wilson, a member of this Conference, was, withset any just cause, insuited by a policeman on one of the stand of the standard apon Mr. Wilson as if he had been the mility party and as if the policeman was justifiable and blanicless: this Conference hareby expresses its strong sympathy with the fixe. W. F. Oil on the Troubled Waters. Mr. Thompson declared Magistrate Denison's sentence to be a base scandal on Christianity and an odious insult to Methodism. Dr. Rose concurred with the resolution but questioned the wisdom of their dealing with the evidence. Dr. Dewart declared that some of the police supporters evidence was proved to be absolutely untrue.

The conference had now reached fever heat.

The conference had now reached fever heat. Speakers were eagerly trying to catch the chairman's eye, when kev. Dr. Stafford was declared to be in possession of the floor. In a speech which lost none of its effect by reason of the calmness of the doctor he urged the withdrawal of so strongly worded a resolution until at least they got the case settled by a competent judge. "L am of opinion that Mr. Wilson has been badly used," said Mr. Stafford, "and we must give him every help to vindicate his character. At the same time we must assure him of our deepest sympathy, but don't let us be too harsh at first on the police suit the magistrate, or people will set our words down to denon-ritual hash at first on the police and the magistrate, or people will set our words down to denominational expressions of prejudice."

Dr. Dewart would not modify the resolution. It was true in substance and fact, and he would stand by every word of it. Mr. Edward Gurney suggested referring the resolution to a committee.

Then rose up a Busineyes in the person of the Besses who in fourthly worses and speech declared that the Magistrate, with that spirit of petty officialism which they as Methodists abhorred, would the act of the saw the mystery of that thing called a policeman. While at the Police Court he saw the mystery of that thing called law. With upraised hand and voles, which indicated the anger he felt, he exclaimed: "To let that officer to free and arrests a minister of the Gospel in good standing, put him in a patrol wagon and take him to a police station, refer such a matter to a committee. I say 'No,' and I mean it."

Mr. Lewis Hill, B. A., pointed out that there were two distinct phases of the case to deal with. First their complaint against the Magistrate, and secondly she complaint against the Magistrate, and secondly she complaint against the policeman. Rev. D. G. Sutherland was in favor of a committee. Dr. Savage said a policeman explained to him that a constable could do any amount of swearing in spite of a minister's interference. Mr. Robert Awde said the policeman would have to answer before the commissioners. Rev. Dr. Potts was in favor of a committee. and promised that if it were so referred the committee would not deal with it in a milk-sop fashion.

The resolution was then referred to this committee: Rev. Drs. Stafford, Potts and Dewart, J. J. Maslaren, Q.C., and Mr. Thos. Thompson.

It is expected the committee will make a
