-THE war cloud in the East has entirely disappeared during the past week, and peace once more reigns supreme where but a few days ago things looked so threatening. China has ratified the treaty recently negotiated with Japan, and the conflict between those two oriental nations is at an end. Japan, also, has yielded to the demand of the three protesting European nations and has given up all claim to that portion of continental China which the treaty was to give her. In this matter her statesmen have displayed much of that discretion which is said to be the better part of valor. Japan might for a time have given Pussia her hands full. She has a well equipped fleet of her own which is just now augmented by the ships she has recently captured from China, while her army is in splendid condition and is flushed with victory. Had Russia alone protested the result might have been different, but backed by Germany and France, las Russia was in this matter, a refusal to give way meant nothing but humiliation and disaster to Japan in the end.

Indirectly, this interference with Japan by the three European nations is likely to lead to important results. By refusing to disappeared during the past week, and peace by the three European nations is likely to by the three European nations is likely to lead to important results. By refusing to join in the protest Great Britain has won the good will and gratitude of this new power in the east, while the feeling of friendship between Great Britain and Russia, which has existed since the death of the late Czar, has been considerably cooled by this incident. France and Germany seemed, too, for the time, to have forgotten their old time hatred toward each other in thus having something in common, and any incident which tends to create a better feeling between these two nations does much towards insuring the peace of Europe.

J. LOUIS GOODWIN.

We regret to chronicle the sad death of J. Louis Goodwin, youngest on off. Mr. John W. Goodwin, of Weymouth Bridge, which occurred last Tuesday at Annapolis. The young man had been ill for a short time and had been there only a week when he was seized with an attack of paralysis of the brain from which he never rallied. Deceased was aged eighteen and his early death is much regretted by all his many acquaintances. The corpse was taken by train to Weymouth for interment, Rev. Mr. Withycombe officiating. The family are gratual in their bereavement to the friends at the Queen Hotel, Annapolis, for their kindness and to Dr. Robinson for constant and untring attention. ad to important results. -AND so the Newfoundlanders became suspicious of the stability and soundness of the three Canadian banks which lately established agencies in the capitol of that island, and made a run upon them. These three institutions, the Bank of Montreal, the Bank of Nova Scotia, and the Merchants Bank of Halifax are three of the staunches and most carefully conducted banks in the dominion, and have resources at their command which would go a long way towards buying up the whole bankrupt island; yet everybody there who had any of the bills

Last Friday afternoon at two o'clock fire was discovered breaking through the roof of the dwelling-house owned and occupied by Messrs. Thomas and William McKeown at werybody there who had any of the bills of these institutions when the report was started immediately rushed off pell-mell to the banks to get gold for them. Of course all of them were accommodated. During the panic the Bank of Montreal agency paid out $40,000 in gold in one forenoon, the Merchants Bank $10,000, and the Bank of Nova Scotia $4,000. After the experience the islanders have lately had with their own banks there is some little excuse for them in being somewhat panicky, but it is not at all banks there is some little excuse for them in being somewhat panicky, but it is not at all creditable to their intelligence that the people of St. John's allowed an idle rumour to cause them to become suspicious of the soundness of the Bank of Montreal, an institution with a capital of $12,000,000. In this part of the dominion our great concern over the bills of all three of these banks is to get them.

—WINTER did not seem to linger in the lap of Spring, as the poets are wont to express it, to any very great extent this year. On the contrary she just sprang into the bosom of Summer at one bound. A temperature of fifty degrees, or thereabouts, one day was succeeded by one of ninety in the shade the next, and we found ourselves transported from coldness of an ordinary early spring day, to the heat of midsummer, without the least warning or preparation. One day an overcoat might be worn without inconvenience; on the next, one is everywhere greeted with that old chestnut, "Is this hot enough for you"? The weather of last week perienced in this province this early in the season. It produced a wonderful effect upon enough for you?? A catalogue of exhibits with prizes is issued. No doubt these exhibitions will be a credit to St. John.

—On Wednesday night of last week the entire province of Winnipeg received a visitation of a large species of flying ant. They came up in large clouds from the south about seven o'clock in the evening, and fell on the streets and sidewalks in countless millions. The strange insects divested themselves of their wings as soon as they touched the earth, and next day they were crawling on the ground in great numbers.

We may reasonably look forward to the arrival of a large number of tourists during the coming summer, and open air concerts by our efficient band would be highly appreciated.

—The Manitoba legislature, which adjourned from March 29th till the 9th inst., met on the latter date and immediately adjourned again till June 13. Long Years Ago.

In that of a general local election in the prairie province. If the Manitoba government intended to refuse point blank to make any change in its educational system, it would not be at all likely to ask for further delay in dealing with the matter. There has been some talk of taking the voice of the people of Manitoba on the question, but just at present all signs point to a compromise. If this is effected it may take the question out of dominion politics altogether, which is something greatly to be desired by all those who wish to see the people of this dominion of all races and creeds living together in peace and harmony.

Contracts for New Houses at Middleton.

J. H. Young, contractor and builder, of Middleton, has taken a contract to erect a new house at "The Woodlands," Wilmot, for W. S. Pineo, Esq., to replace the one recently destroyed by fire.

It is also understood that the contract for erecting Mr. Geo. Armstrong's handsome new residence, stable and ware-house on Commercial street, Middleton, has been given to Mr. Arthur MacGregor, of Tremont, who is one of our most successful builders. Mr. MacG. has removed to Middleton with his wife, and preparations for framing are going forward briskly. This residence, when completed, will be one of the handsomest in the town.

Primrose Parker at Springfield, Ill.

We have been handed a copy of the Illinois State Register, published at Springfield, containing an account of athletic sports among the scholars of the High School of that city, to decide who should represent the school at the inter-scholastic meeting to be held to-day, and among the number who were successful, we are pleased to find that our former young townsman, Primrose Parker, son of J. G. H. Parker, Esq., had an easy victory over a number of other contestants in a mile race, covering the distance in 5 minutes and 28½ seconds.

Liberal Prizes.

Those of our readers who are of a literary turn of mind will appreciate the liberal offer made elsewhere in this issue by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., of Brockville, Ont., who announce a series of prizes amounting to $300 for the five best short original stories submitted in the competition. The amount offered is, we believe, the largest ever awarded in a competition of this kind in Canada, and any part of it will be a liberal recompence for a story of the length named. We will be glad to hear that any of our readers have succeeded in capturing one of the prizes.
