

THE BOOK PAGE

The Theology of Christ's Teaching.
By Rev. John M. King, D.D. The Westminster Company, Toronto. 484 pages; price $2.50 net.

This volume cultivates with great thoroughness the richest part of the field belonging to Biblical Theology. It sets forth the great truths of theology as they are revealed in the personal teaching of Christ. The utterances of our Lord, which find in the author a most conscientious and sympathetic interpreter, are classified under three heads, namely, those regarding the nature and perfections of God, those on ethical topics, and those dealing with the last things. The reader scarcely knows whether to admire most the fullness of knowledge, or the fairness in stating the views of an opponent, or the fearlessness in grappling with difficulties, or the tenacity in holding to conclusions reached with care, which are displayed on every page. The book is a worthy memorial of one who filled during many years so large a place in the Presbyterian Church in Canada, first, as a powerful preacher and devoted pastor, and afterwards as an inspiring teacher and successful Principal in its youngest but not least important College.

The Romance of Canadian History.
Edited from the Writings of Francis Parkman by William Edgar, Ph.D. The George N. Morison Company, Toronto. 416 pages, price $1.80 net.

Nowhere, perhaps, is history to be found in more interesting form than in the works of Francis Parkman. Dr. Edgar has placed the best of this master historian's work within easy reach of even the least diligent student. The work of selection, necessary to reduce twelve volumes to the limits of one, has been so wisely done that the lover of Parkman will find none of his favorite passages omitted. The reader enjoys an unbroken story from the erection of Cartier's cross at Gaspé to the tragic death of Pontiac on the banks of the Mississippi. What the editor has contributed in order to maintain the continuity of the narrative has been written in a style which is dignified, even side by side with that of Parkman, to say which is no mean praise.

How to Attract the Birds. By Neltje Blanchan. The Copp, Clark Co., Toronto. 224 pages; price $1.35 net.

Among the Water-Fowl. By Herbert K. Job. Same publishers and price. 224 pages.

Nature and the Camera. By Dugmore. Same publishers and price. 126 pages.

The printing, binding, and illustrations of these three new Nature books are exquisite. Each author treats his theme after his own fashion, but all charmingly. HOW TO ATTRACT THE BIRDS, not only gives many a minute and practical rule to that end, but deals by photograph and description with such interesting subjects as Bird Architecture, Bird Home Life, Songs Without Words, Why Birds Come and Go, and always with full information.
