

OBITUARY.

---

WM. H. DRAKE, M.D.

Dr. Wm. H. Drake, the oldest physician in Essex County, died on 6th September. He lived and practised medicine for forty years in Kingsville, moved to Windsor twelve years ago and lived retired. Dr. F. P. Drake, of London, and F. A. Drake, barrister, are sons.

---

ISAAC WOOD, M.D.

The medical profession of Kingston has sustained a distinct loss by the death of Dr. Isaac Wood, who passed away at his late residence, corner of King and Johnson Streets, at an early hour 1st September. On Monday afternoon, 29th August, Dr. Wood was stricken with apoplexy after returning home from the General Hospital, where he had performed an operation for appendicitis. He remained unconscious till the last.

The late Dr. Wood was born in the Township of Augusta, County of Grenville, fifty-seven years ago. After being a public school and business college principal, in 1891 he took his M. A. degree at Queen's, and in 1892 he graduated as doctor of medicine at the same institution. Then he crossed to the Old Land and took the degree of M.R.C.S. (England), and F.O.S. (Edinburgh). For the past seventeen years he practised his profession in Kingston.

A year ago Dr. Wood retired from general practice, and became a consulting physician and surgeon. In Queen's Medical College Dr. Wood occupied several positions. He was professor of pediatrics, assistant professor of obstetrics and gynaecology, and lecturer in chemistry. Dr. Wood is survived by one daughter, Olivia, at home.

---

JAMES K. JOHNSTONE, M.D.

Dr. Johnstone died in Toronto, August 10th. He graduated in 1870, and was 61 at the time of his death. Many years ago he retired from practice and subsequently held the position of government inspector of electric meters.

---

JAMES M. McCARTER, M.D.

Dr. J. M. McCarter, of Verona, Ontario, died in the General Hospital in Kingston, on 16th September, 1910. He was operated upon for