

Canadian-American Dinner

••••

Tuesday, February 23rd, 1915

Seven-thirty

Dunning's Hotel, Toronto

To declare the essential unity of democratic ideals in the British Empire and the United States, and to impress upon Canadians and Americans in Canada the duty that rests upon them of making this unity appreciated throughout America, to the end that any differences which may arise between the nations may be amicably settled in accordance with justice and honor, and without undue friction or recrimination.
