

APPENDIX "B"

ENERGY CONSERVATION PROPOSALS

The following list of measures, though far from comprehensive, have been prepared by the Office of Energy Conservation for consideration within the federal and other levels of governments. Some are already in the process of design and implementation. Others will require careful evaluation. All would have significant energy saving consequences.

EXPLANATION OF TERMS USED

RELATED FEDERAL ACTIVITIES

Existing Program indicates whether some action has been taken to effect that proposal.

Existing Mechanism indicates whether there is a readily available way to set up that proposal (in the event there is no existing program).

SECTOR

Individual—Residential indicates effects on individuals as homeowners or tenants and as consumers.

Commercial indicates effects on all buildings except residential ones.

Industrial indicates effects on industry processes or production, exclusive of building operation.

Transportation indicates effects on any means of transportation or transportation industry.