

"Nigel Græme

that there is much
ons that we are
s by at least a
ack them in an
l cost us great

ictory are fully
gen will injure Germany; but
e feeling thus
ould soon wipe
ch the Imperial niards who are
l very shortly

Otto Ludwig is
us; in a short
oer the enemy,
ge, just as we
deburg to fall.
has taken, and
e we shall beat
oon Vienna."

Nigel Græme
most prudent

think that it
y spirit, and he
e, a disgrace to rdlingen. He uring the last
have reached him from the reformed princes and the free towns in all parts of Germany, reproaching him bitterly for having suffered Ratisbon and Donauwörth to fall into the hands of the enemy without a blow, and he feels that his honour is concerned. I have little doubt that we shall fight a great battle to save Nordlingen."

