

WAR SUMMARY

The Day's Events Reviewed

It appears that the war aims of the allies originated in the brain of President Wilson and not in the inter-allied war council as at first supposed, and the allies only gradually became won over to the acceptance of 13 of the 14 points in the Wilson program. That program, however, is in general terms and it is doubtful whether each of the allies has its own interpretation of certain points. The allies at first felt inclined to admit the facts of Europe in their own fashion, until they perceived that the president desired to commit the United States to a world instead of a pan-American policy. This factor means a readjustment of the balance of power.

Whatever order the allies intend to impose upon Europe, it seems certain that they cannot abandon the principle of the balance of power with safety. If they neglect it, it is a matter of time before a future catastrophe. At the present moment, however, it is "upset," and the allies hold a superiority of power that they can use to Europe at their will, but the experience of the past has taught that until the equilibrium is established conditions are always unstable. The assertion of the balance of power has always put an end to past wars. For example, the wars of religion continued in Europe until a balance of power came into effect and it was seen that no ascendancy could be gained for either side by Protestants and Roman Catholics sacrificing each other. As soon as the balance of power becomes upset, as the allies allowed the central groups of powers to gain by gaining a preponderance in armament, Europe becomes liable to a general war, as she became liable in August, 1914.

In France and Belgium the allies have by this time occupied all of Alsace-Lorraine, Luxembourg and, except Liege and Louvain, all of Belgium, and they are pushing their outposts towards the heart of Germany, in the Dutch industrial province of the Rhine-land. The inhabitants everywhere have welcomed the conquerors with displays of bunting and flags, hidden away for his very purpose since the beginning of the war. One of the remarkable things about the campaign has been the untravelling faith of the French, Belgians and Alsace-Lorrainers under German occupation, that the allies would win the war. The Canadians and the British, on the other hand, will have the honor of entering Germany. In the east the Poles have overtaken the larger part of Galicia and their influence is increasing in Posen and West Prussia. In Austria-Hungary the Czechs-Slovaks apparently are in full control of their own lands and the Bosnians have made a demand for a close union with Serbia. In Turkey the Armenians have issued a claim for independence. The allies will probably heed this demand and put it into effect. Turkey, meanwhile, is becoming anxious over the sort of terms that the allies will impose and is sending a commissioner to Paris to solicit leniency. Turkey was allied to the path of the Mohammedan world by tolerating a movement to forsake Mohammedanism and adopt Turkish Islam as the national religion. Mohammedanism comprises a sort of fetish worship and is said to be on a lower moral plane than Mohammedanism.

The neglected state of the surrendered German warships, which looted as if unoccupied for two years, after that after the naval engagement off the coast of Jutland the enemy gave up hope of decaying the war by fleet action upon the high seas and confidence in his navy. He certainly never expected to employ it again or he would have kept it fit for action. This fact also shows that he never seriously entertained a project for the invasion of England or Scotland, for he would have needed a fleet to cover his disembarkation.

What has happened in Germany is that the present irresponsible government, really a provisional junta, formed an alliance with the German soldiers' and workmen's councils, and the two bodies will be working without the Berlin radicals that is renewing the demand for separation in south Germany, and also in the Rhineland.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

EXPLAINS SYSTEM OF DEMOBILIZATION

Gen. Mewburn, at Hamilton, Tells How Men Will Be Brought Back.

DEPENDENTS FIRST

Canadian Club Endorses Resolution Calling for Punishment of Ex-Kaiser.

Hamilton, Nov. 25.—Demobilization was the important subject dealt with by Major-General Mewburn, in his address tonight at a view of the situation by the Canadian Club of Hamilton. The general's address was a success of the evening, and was well received by the audience. The general's address was a success of the evening, and was well received by the audience. The general's address was a success of the evening, and was well received by the audience.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

Major-General Mewburn, who was greeted by three cheers and a three-sided salute, stated that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton, and that he was glad to see the Canadian Club of Hamilton.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

DANFORTH ROAD GRADING RUSHED.

Road grading is being rushed on the new road between Danforth and Sherbourne streets, in connection with the floor street viaduct, and track-laying and spiking is more than half completed between these two points. The Glen Road, subway bridge deck is considerably advanced, and everything should be in readiness for street car operations over the entire route by Friday next.

TODMORDEN PRO RATA REFUND TO CORDWOOD CREDITORS.

Alexander Macgregor, barrister, attended a meeting of subscribers of the Muskoka Cordwood and Lumber Company in Toronto, Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Macgregor, who was present. Mr. Macgregor, who was appointed chairman of the meeting, is giving his services without cost in connection with the preliminary meeting of creditors in the Labor Temple recently. He explained the position of affairs to date and advised that eight cars have been sold, and the balance of the stock is being disposed of. The proceeds will be used to pay the creditors. The meeting was held at 7 o'clock and was attended by about 20 persons.

RIVERDALE ANGLICAN CHURCH BAZAAR.

Under the auspices of the women of St. Matthew's Anglican Church, a bazaar will be held at the church on Monday evening, Nov. 27, from 7 to 10 o'clock. The proceeds will be devoted to the purchase of a new organ for the church. The bazaar will be held in the church hall and will consist of a variety of goods, including books, stationery, and household articles. The church is located at the corner of Danforth and Riverdale streets.

CHINESE LABOR BATTALIONS.

Capt. A. J. Brace of the Methodist Church, Toronto, is in charge of the Chinese labor battalions in France during the war. He is a member of the Chinese Labor Battalion, which is one of the many battalions that have been formed to help in the war effort. The Chinese labor battalions are made up of Chinese men who have volunteered to serve in the war. They are trained in the same manner as the other labor battalions and are used in a variety of capacities, including digging trenches, building roads, and other manual labor.

EARLSCOURT BROKE INTO STORE.

J. J. Noad's new grocery store, 1147 St. Clair avenue, Earlscourt, was broken into last night. The thieves stole a quantity of goods, including flour, sugar, and other provisions. The store is located on the corner of St. Clair and Hurontario streets. The police are investigating the case and have issued a warrant for the arrest of the thieves.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION Prizes Awarded and Plans for Next Year Announced.

The Oakwood Poultry Association held a meeting in the Oakwood Hall, Oakwood avenue, Monday night, when the prizes were awarded to the winners of the 1918 poultry show. The show was held at the Oakwood Hall and was a great success. The prizes were awarded to the winners of the various classes, including chickens, ducks, and geese. The association is planning to hold a similar show next year.

WEST TORONTO The Canadian Bank of Commerce has secured premises at Weston on Main street, opposite the Bank of Montreal, and will move there in a few days.

ALLEGED WHITEWEAR THIEVES ARRESTED.

As the culmination of a number of thefts of white-weater cloth, a party of five men, including James Allan, 177 Dundas street, and Arthur Chamberlain, 79 Eaton street, were arrested last night by Detectives Levitt, Strum, McConnell and Young. According to the police, the thefts had been very extensive, stretching over a period of eight or nine months, and the stolen goods have amounted to a value of $1000. The men were charged with the thefts and are being held in custody.

ALLEGED ABDUCTION CHARGE.

Alexandra Sumusky of Montreal, charged with desertion, and Stephen Goldovsky, also of Montreal, and charged with abduction, were arrested in Toronto yesterday by Detectives Mitchell and Strum. Both will be sent back to Montreal.

SENT BACK HOME.

Sadie Bishop, rear 19 Denison avenue, was arrested yesterday on a warrant from the chief constable at Delsona, charging her with false pretences. Detective Levitt made the arrest, and the woman will be sent back to her home town this morning.

AIR FORCE TELLS DISCHARGE SCHEME

Demobilization Plans Announced, and Men Will Be Released Quickly.

Last night the Royal Air Force stated that this letter has been sent to all R.A.F. units in Toronto district so as to explain exactly what is meant by the "temporary discharge certificate." Every airman and cadet, on receiving temporary discharge, will be informed that his temporary discharge is given him in order that he may proceed to his home more rapidly than it would be possible to do otherwise. The discharge is given to him in order that he may proceed to his home more rapidly than it would be possible to do otherwise.

NO COAL AS YET.

According to A. J. Moses, fuel controller for the residents of the district on the east side, no coal has as yet been received. The coal is expected to arrive in a few days. The residents of the district are suffering from the lack of coal, and are unable to heat their homes. The fuel controller is working to get the coal as quickly as possible.

BARRIERS INTERRUPT BUSINESS.

Barriers are still stretched across the road on Broadview avenue at the city limits, and the inconvenience of the barriers is causing a great deal of trouble. The barriers are being used to control traffic, but they are also causing a great deal of delay. The city is working to remove the barriers as quickly as possible.

BACKYARD GARDEN CONCERT.

Under the auspices of the Todmorden Backyard Garden Committee, a concert will be held in Toronto evening school, Monday night, Nov. 27, at 8 o'clock. The concert will be held in the school hall and will consist of a variety of musical pieces. The proceeds will be used to help in the work of the garden committee.

LEASIDE HOSTESS HOUSE SOCIAL.

A well attended social and dance party was held at the Leaside Hostess House, Monday evening, Nov. 25. The party was held in the hall and was a great success. The Leaside Hostess House is a very popular place for social gatherings.

BOOST MIDWAY DISTRICT.

Candidates will be selected to represent the Midway district in the coming election. The candidates will be selected by the voters of the district. The Midway district is a very important district in the city.

ONTARIO PURCHASES NEW SUPPLY OF FEED.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has purchased a new supply of feed for the province. The feed is being purchased from the United States and will be used to feed the livestock of the province. The purchase is a very important one for the province.

HURT AT MASSEY-HARRIS.

While working in the shops of the Massey-Harris Co., on King street yesterday, P. C. Fayment, 22 Regent street, was struck on the head by a piece of iron, which was being hoisted by a crane. He was taken to the hospital and is recovering. The accident was a very serious one.

Good Christmas Cheer For Veterans' Bairs.

Christmas cheer for the mothers and their little ones whose fathers are still away on military service, was the theme of discussion at the executive of the Central Branch of the Western Front Hospital, at the branch offices, 707 Yonge street. The executive will further confer with the auxiliary of the branch and a splendid occasion of cheer is anticipated.

PERCEPTO OPTICAL CO. W. M. PERCY, Proprietor.

442 Yonge Street (opposite Carlton), Toronto, Ont. Phone 44, 5466.

Y.M.C.A. SEEKS BIG MEMBERSHIP

Central, West End, Broadview Y.M.C.A. Commence Membership Campaign.

Central, West End and Broadview Y.M.C.A.'s yesterday commenced their annual membership campaign under the direction of G. W. Warburton and John Torry. The objective of the Central branch is 5,000, and the other branches proportionately. Members of the Y.M.C.A. have been requested to send in the names of their friends who they thought ought to be members of the association. The campaign will be carried out by the Y.M.C.A. over the next few weeks.

Suppers were given at the three branches last night to help in the campaign. The suppers were very successful and a large number of members were recruited. The Y.M.C.A. is very grateful to the members who have supported the campaign.

Mr. Torry, chairman of the Toronto committee, expects Broadview to secure 1,500 members in the drive. Mr. Torry is very confident that the Y.M.C.A. will reach its goal. He is very grateful to the members who have supported the campaign.

BRINGING SOLDIERS BY TEN THOUSAND

Ample Arrangements Ready for Veterans in Toronto District.

At least 10,000 returned soldiers are now en route to Canada from England. Revised estimates as to the number of returned soldiers now on the way to Toronto military district made in military circles yesterday afternoon, varied from 2,500 to 8,000 men. It is thought that only a small fraction of the total of men now en route to Toronto district will require hospital accommodation. Adequate preparations have been made by Major G. Gibson, officer commanding the Toronto district depot (casualty clearing station), and that there will be no difficulty in absorbing the big contingents of war veterans now homeward bound. (On arrival in Toronto the returned men will be issued 14 days' leave.)

EARLSCOURT IMPERIALS CONGRATULATE THE KING.

At a meeting of the British Imperial Association held in the Earlscourt public school, last evening, resolutions were passed "That a letter be sent to King George congratulating him on the victory of the British and the allies." The resolutions were passed by a large majority. The Earlscourt Imperials are very proud of the victory of the British and the allies.

LIUT. W. N. HANNA GIVES LIFE IN ITALY

His War Services Include Duty at the Somme With Artillery.

An air ministry cable announces that Flight-Lieut. W. N. Hanna, son of Hon. W. J. Hanna, was killed in action on Nov. 20. The report of the death of Lieut. Hanna is made specially tragic because of the fact of his being killed in the same battle in which his father was killed. Lieut. Hanna was serving with the Royal Air Force and was on duty in Italy. He was a very brave and gallant officer.

FELL DOWN ELEVATOR.

Mike Balmun, 123 Spadina avenue, sustained severe injuries yesterday at the plant of the John Innes Co., on Strachan avenue, yesterday, when he fell from an elevator shaft. He was taken to the hospital and is recovering. The accident was a very serious one.

C. P. S. EMPLOYEE INJURED.

William Regan, 621 West Dundas street, an employee of the C.P.R. at the West Toronto engine house, received a head wound yesterday when he fell from an elevator shaft. He was taken to the hospital and is recovering. The accident was a very serious one.

WAR SUMMARY

The Day's Events Reviewed

It appears that the war aims of the allies originated in the brain of President Wilson and not in the inter-allied war council as at first supposed, and the allies only gradually became won over to the acceptance of 13 of the 14 points in the Wilson program. That program, however, is in general terms and it is doubtful whether each of the allies has its own interpretation of certain points. The allies at first felt inclined to admit the facts of Europe in their own fashion, until they perceived that the president desired to commit the United States to a world instead of a pan-American policy. This factor means a readjustment of the balance of power.

Whatever order the allies intend to impose upon Europe, it seems certain that they cannot abandon the principle of the balance of power with safety. If they neglect it, it is a matter of time before a future catastrophe. At the present moment, however, it is "upset," and the allies hold a superiority of power that they can use to Europe at their will, but the experience of the past has taught that until the equilibrium is established conditions are always unstable. The assertion of the balance of power has always put an end to past wars. For example, the wars of religion continued in Europe until a balance of power came into effect and it was seen that no ascendancy could be gained for either side by Protestants and Roman Catholics sacrificing each other. As soon as the balance of power becomes upset, as the allies allowed the central groups of powers to gain by gaining a preponderance in armament, Europe becomes liable to a general war, as she became liable in August, 1914.

In France and Belgium the allies have by this time occupied all of Alsace-Lorraine, Luxembourg and, except Liege and Louvain, all of Belgium, and they are pushing their outposts towards the heart of Germany, in the Dutch industrial province of the Rhineland. The inhabitants everywhere have welcomed the conquerors with displays of bunting and flags, hidden away for his very purpose since the beginning of the war. One of the remarkable things about the campaign has been the untravelling faith of the French, Belgians and Alsace-Lorrainers under German occupation, that the allies would win the war. The Canadians and the British, on the other hand, will have the honor of entering Germany. In the east the Poles have overtaken the larger part of Galicia and their influence is increasing in Posen and West Prussia. In Austria-Hungary the Czechs-Slovaks apparently are in full control of their own lands and the Bosnians have made a demand for a close union with Serbia. In Turkey the Armenians have issued a claim for independence. The allies will probably heed this demand and put it into effect. Turkey, meanwhile, is becoming anxious over the sort of terms that the allies will impose and is sending a commissioner to Paris to solicit leniency. Turkey was allied to the path of the Mohammedan world by tolerating a movement to forsake Mohammedanism and adopt Turkish Islam as the national religion. Mohammedanism comprises a sort of fetish worship and is said to be on a lower moral plane than Mohammedanism.

The neglected state of the surrendered German warships, which looted as if unoccupied for two years, after that after the naval engagement off the coast of Jutland the enemy gave up hope of decaying the war by fleet action upon the high seas and confidence in his navy. He certainly never expected to employ it again or he would have kept it fit for action. This fact also shows that he never seriously entertained a project for the invasion of England or Scotland, for he would have needed a fleet to cover his disembarkation.

What has happened in Germany is that the present irresponsible government, really a provisional junta, formed an alliance with the German soldiers' and workmen's councils, and the two bodies will be working without the Berlin radicals that is renewing the demand for separation in south Germany, and also in the Rhineland.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

WAR SUMMARY

The Day's Events Reviewed

It appears that the war aims of the allies originated in the brain of President Wilson and not in the inter-allied war council as at first supposed, and the allies only gradually became won over to the acceptance of 13 of the 14 points in the Wilson program. That program, however, is in general terms and it is doubtful whether each of the allies has its own interpretation of certain points. The allies at first felt inclined to admit the facts of Europe in their own fashion, until they perceived that the president desired to commit the United States to a world instead of a pan-American policy. This factor means a readjustment of the balance of power.

Whatever order the allies intend to impose upon Europe, it seems certain that they cannot abandon the principle of the balance of power with safety. If they neglect it, it is a matter of time before a future catastrophe. At the present moment, however, it is "upset," and the allies hold a superiority of power that they can use to Europe at their will, but the experience of the past has taught that until the equilibrium is established conditions are always unstable. The assertion of the balance of power has always put an end to past wars. For example, the wars of religion continued in Europe until a balance of power came into effect and it was seen that no ascendancy could be gained for either side by Protestants and Roman Catholics sacrificing each other. As soon as the balance of power becomes upset, as the allies allowed the central groups of powers to gain by gaining a preponderance in armament, Europe becomes liable to a general war, as she became liable in August, 1914.

In France and Belgium the allies have by this time occupied all of Alsace-Lorraine, Luxembourg and, except Liege and Louvain, all of Belgium, and they are pushing their outposts towards the heart of Germany, in the Dutch industrial province of the Rhineland. The inhabitants everywhere have welcomed the conquerors with displays of bunting and flags, hidden away for his very purpose since the beginning of the war. One of the remarkable things about the campaign has been the untravelling faith of the French, Belgians and Alsace-Lorrainers under German occupation, that the allies would win the war. The Canadians and the British, on the other hand, will have the honor of entering Germany. In the east the Poles have overtaken the larger part of Galicia and their influence is increasing in Posen and West Prussia. In Austria-Hungary the Czechs-Slovaks apparently are in full control of their own lands and the Bosnians have made a demand for a close union with Serbia. In Turkey the Armenians have issued a claim for independence. The allies will probably heed this demand and put it into effect. Turkey, meanwhile, is becoming anxious over the sort of terms that the allies will impose and is sending a commissioner to Paris to solicit leniency. Turkey was allied to the path of the Mohammedan world by tolerating a movement to forsake Mohammedanism and adopt Turkish Islam as the national religion. Mohammedanism comprises a sort of fetish worship and is said to be on a lower moral plane than Mohammedanism.

The neglected state of the surrendered German warships, which looted as if unoccupied for two years, after that after the naval engagement off the coast of Jutland the enemy gave up hope of decaying the war by fleet action upon the high seas and confidence in his navy. He certainly never expected to employ it again or he would have kept it fit for action. This fact also shows that he never seriously entertained a project for the invasion of England or Scotland, for he would have needed a fleet to cover his disembarkation.

What has happened in Germany is that the present irresponsible government, really a provisional junta, formed an alliance with the German soldiers' and workmen's councils, and the two bodies will be working without the Berlin radicals that is renewing the demand for separation in south Germany, and also in the Rhineland.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Referring to the Military Service Act, Major-General Mewburn stated that a good many of his former friends wanted to assassinate him, he did not think that he had broken faith with them. He said that there were also 22,000 wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and 10,000 in France, but that he would not discuss their relatives could rest assured that while in English hospitals they would receive the most modern medical treatment.

Men's at $...
Pract always in search of...
Interested of umb...
Priced...
Silk and ed on frames...
are more and are shapes...
are show style or...
fects, w are mos All are...
Attrac Pictu...
FR...
A b 1 1/2-inch 17 x 27...
for ball...
next Sunday night. The band of the Royal Grenadiers will furnish music, and the consuls of Italy, France, Belgium and the United States are expected to be present.