INCREASE OUT OF THE QUESTION. Mr. Chamberlain's Reply to Sugar Planters of Trinidad,

the royal yacht Victoria and Albert the inadequacy of the relief which government is giving the planters. Mr. Chambertain declared that any increase of the sum ($1,350,000), voted by parliament, was out of the question, and that he could hold out no hope of a similar grant in 1903. If, however, the sugar industry then required further aid, he would consider raising money in the colonies to be advanced to the planters on easy terms. He had no fears regarding the ratification of the Brussels convention, but if thru some unforseen cause it was not ratified, effective measures would be taken to safeguard the interests of the sugar industry of the British West Indies.

The Directors believe that it would be profitable to erect works for the construction of all the engines, boilers and foundry work needed in the construction of steamships. They also see a steady demand for engines, boilers and castings of large size for other purposes. The Dominion Government recognizes the necessity, in the public interest, of an enlarged dry dock, and has decided to grant a liberal subsidy for a term of twenty years; the annual payments to be based upon the outlays made upon the work, and to begin upon its completion, to the satisfaction of the Government Engineer. The Dominion Government already grants a small bounty on the tonnage of steel steamships constructed in Canada. Two large steel steamships already completed by the Company, one for the Northern Navigation Company, and the other for the Algoma Central & H. B. Railway Company, have given complete satisfaction, and contracts have been executed for the construction of two other steel steamships, each 375 feet in length, 48 feet beam and 28 feet moulded depth, to be completed May and June of next year.

Messrs. Clarkson & Cross, who have examined the books and accounts of the Company from the said first of January, 1901, certify the earnings to have been equal to eight per cent. upon the capital employed. Their report and statements are in the possession of the Company. The Company have no bonded or floating debt and

The Company is exempt from taxation, in perpetuity, by the municipality of Collingwood, except as to school rates, which are assessed upon a fixed nominal valuation. This exemption is confirmed by an Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario.

The additional capital now offered for subscription is for the following purposes
