zaid nothing. Gates and Ashley got up and walked out. "Mr. Hall asked me, 'If I would take $200. He said, 'I understand you want $200. I said that was right. Gates had told him I wanted $200. 'Why didn't you get the money?'— 'He wouldn't give it. I think they just wanted information. 'Did you or Gates say anything to the Liberal committee rooms about the election?'— 'Ashley said he voted between 4.30 and 4.45, and Mr. Watson asked if he'd not matter, you that do with it.' Ashley denied that he had sought the $10 reward offered by the Conservatives for evidences of bribery.

Arthur Alect gave evidence on charge 17, which is one of some thirty odd charges where R. H. Leary's name is mentioned. He voted between 9.30 and 10 o'clock in the morning and was at the Liberal committee rooms about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. He got $2 from James Jordan, who told him he could get $2 for voting. 'I have voted,' he replied, but his friend said, 'It does not matter, you that do with it.' Ashley went into the Liberal committee rooms and met Leary.

'Leary said, 'I do not give you anything it is under there, pointing to the box on the table. I lifted it,' continued Alect, 'and found $2 there. That $2 bill I paid the grocer with. 'Some time after the election, Richard Fair met Alect on the street and told him that Rolan Glover wanted to see him. Mr. Glover took him to the office of Hall, Mead and Davidson, where he signed a declaration that he never received any money from certain Liberals, either to vote or in connection with the election.

'Why He Took the Money. 'You had a little to do with elections in England before you came out?' suggested Mr. Watson in cross-examination. 'No, I have never voted before in my natural life. 'What did you take the $2 for?'— 'Because I was hard up.' 'You thought that was an honest dollar offered you?'—'I thought it was.' 'Had it anything to do with your vote?'—'No, sir, when they voted.' 'Did you think he was honestly giving it to you?'—'I thought he was honestly giving it away,' replied witness, somewhat irritated.

'You thought it was not given for any improper purpose?'—'I thought it was not given to me for any improper purpose,' replied Alect. The witness then said that he was first asked to vote by Sam Wainwright, and had promised to 'vote for the first man that catches me.' Wainwright did the trick on election morning, and he voted 'right.' 'What Happened With the Lawyers. When Alect was taken by Glover to Hall, Mead and Davidson's office, Mr. Watson asked: 'What did they say to you?'—'Mr. Davidson asked me if I had been the Liberal committee room election day. 'I said, 'No.' 'Was that true or false?'—'It was a falsehood. 'What did you tell a falsehood?'— 'Because I was told unless I signed the paper I would get two years' imprisonment.' This interesting information was imparted to Alect by Richard Fair or Glover, and he made the declaration in Davidson's office, after the document had been read to him.

Put Bill Under a Box. Mark Harland was also enriched to the extent of $2. Like others, he was hard up, and heard that money was to be had at the Liberal committee rooms. He went there and met Leary, who asked his name. This he wrote on a piece of cardboard, took the bill from his hand, and put it under the box. The witness picked the money up. This took place after he had voted.

This was the first time he had exercised his right to vote. 'Did anybody offer you money to vote?'—'No, Mr. Stratton?'—'We were told to come around to the committee room after we had voted.' 'Did you regard that a promise?'—'As a kind of promise.' 'Was there any promise or suggestion of money before you voted?'—'No, there was a string of men waiting outside the door of the small room like a line outside a theatre. I joined that line, and when my turn came I went in.'

Heard the Good News. John Pritchard, who was with Alect and Harland when they voted, said the crowd around the door of the small room. 'Did you get any money?' asked Mr. Du Verne, of the petitioner. 'No; I heard from the gang of men that there was money passing around.' He supposed that the reason he received no money was that he had found out he had voted before. Under cross-examination by Mr. Watson, Pritchard stated that the charge that he had received money from Leary, Davidson or Glover, as an inducement to vote, was false. In a declaration subscribed to by him, the statement was made that he had been offered a large sum of money by George Ferguson or others to make a false affidavit that he had received money from Mr. Stratton or his workers.

Did Not See Anything Wrong. Mattie Clancy was called to give corroborative evidence with regard to the movements in these committee rooms on the day of the election. He stated that the inner room where the money is said to have been paid had the telephone and voters' lists. People were constantly going in and out, and there were several times during the day and saw no wrong doing. 'Were you at the Liberal committee rooms on the day of the election?' asked Mr. Du Verne of Jas. Monger, and witness admitted he got $2, although not a voter.

At this point Mr. Watson raised an objection to longer evidence, as he was not a voter, and no specified charge had been laid. Their lordships sustained the objection. Robert L. Banks, a voter and resident of Peterboro, was in the Liberal committee rooms about 3 o'clock on election day. He saw no money. Before adjournment of the court, Justice MacMahon charged the jury to severely criticized the securing of promiscuous declarations in examination or rebuttal in instances like this.

JOHN GEORGE ROSS ADMITS NUMBER OF CRIMES AND STOLEN PROPERTY IS FOUND ON HIM.

With the arrest of John George Ross, Chicago, yesterday morning, Police-man Frank Riley charged on extensive list believed has carried in many cities in Canada and the United States. Ross is now in Toronto alone five charges of thefts of suitcases and valises containing clothing from rooming houses in Toronto. The man, who is 25 years of age, and says he comes from Chicago, was pointed out to the policeman in York-street as disposing of some of the stolen property and taken to the police station. There he admitted a number of the thefts charged on him, and among his effects at the Palmer House, where he registered as J. J. Scott, were found a number of keys for hotel rooms. The theft charges in the city are: Suitcase and contents from room of the same front room, Frank Wilson, King Edward Hotel; H. A. Morrow, Grand Union Hotel; Miss Beatrice Darby, Fremont House, and J. J. House, 120 Queen-st. West.

He also admits having stolen a suitcase from the room of Burton A. Cook, Montreal, and a suitcase at the Windsor, Detroit, and the St. Charles Hotel, Buffalo. Pawn tickets for a kodak at Buffalo, and a suitcase at Normanby, Wayne, Metropole and St. Clair in Detroit; for the British American in Windsor; for the Queen and Lafayette, Troquois and Obsesee in Montreal; for the Hollenden and Colonial in Cleveland.

He had also a silver tag for a grip engraved 'E. B. Perry, Bay City, Mich.' Most of the goods stolen in Toronto hotels was recovered. In the case at the Tremont House, Patrick Mulquhney, proprietor, had settled with the young lady who lost her valise, and in one case at the King Edward the girl had entered suit, and the management thought his demand exorbitant.

TWO MILLION SEE PARADE

Spectacular Features in Connection With Hudson-Fulton Procession in Gotham.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Thru streets abuzz with bunting and lined with the greatest crowd ever gathered in New York thoroughfares, a parade of 20,000 men and 54 floats passed to-day before the eyes of a vast throng of spectators in the Hudson-Fulton celebration. And in its passing, which occupied two hours, the epoch-making scene of figures of wood, plaster, paint and tinsel, were reviewed.

From 110th-street, along Central Park west, 85th-street, and down Fifth-avenue to Washington-square, in the lower part of the city—the route of the parade and a distance of over five miles—it is estimated that more than two million people gathered. On roofs, towers, poles, at windows and from grand stands erected almost to-day before the length of the route, the more fortunate thousands viewed the spectacle, while an enormous crowd surged against the police lines down the sidewalks.

A bit of confusion at the start of the parade put a number of the floats out of their order, so that in some instances the historical sequence was sturdily upset, but the good-natured crowd did not mind this. A number of the patriotic scenes were wildly cheered. Among them were 'Publishing the Constitution,' 'Storming of Stony Point,' 'Capture of Andre' and 'Washington taking oath of office.' It was before a court of honor on the grounds of the new public library at 42nd-street and Fifth-avenue, 23,000 paraders passed. Vice-President Jas. Sherman was flanked on either side by the Admirals Lepard and Seymour of the French and English squadrons respectively.

Tammany, with a thousand stalwart members in Prince Alberts and high hats, made a notable appearing. Squads of schoolchildren, New York University, Columbia City College, and Rutgers College students, members of Jewish, Italian, French, Scotch and English, Scotch-Irish, Scotch and Scotch-Irish, and behind them came others and others, seemingly without end. With the end of the parade broke out of the animal comfort which afforded a relief to our life of frigid, an effort to get souvenirs. It necessitated military severity by the police to save the creations from being torn to pieces. More than 6000 soldiers from all the ships now assembled at the Hippodrome to-night as the guests of the Hudson-Fulton Commission.

Dr. Cook's Story Written on a Monarch

The Monarch is run at a higher all-day average speed than other typewriters, and without a "tapering off" from fatigue, toward the day's end. Both these truths are due to the fact that

lightens the draft, uses power more economically, eliminates the waste of energy that typifies the heavy-touch machine. This in turn means increased production per machine and decreased cost of typewriter work per folio. While Monarch Light Touch and the Monarch Rigid Carriage are exclusive Monarch features, every other important feature of the modern typewriting machines, such as Back Space Key, Two-Copy Ribbon Shift, Contained Tabulator, &c., &c., will also be found in the Monarch. A FEW DISCOMFORTS OF ARCTIC TRAVEL blow on the morrow and afford us a day of rest. The long, steady marches, without time for recuperation, had begun to check our enthusiasm. In the early monotony of hardship we had learned to appreciate more and more the joy of the sleeping bag. It was the only animal comfort which afforded a relief to our life of frigid, an effort to get souvenirs. It necessitated military severity by the police to save the creations from being torn to pieces.

DISROBING AT NIGHT NOT AN EASY TASK.

In the evening, after the blocks of snow walled a dome in which we could tolerate quiet air, the blue flame lamps sang the notes of gastronomic delights. A heaven-given drink of ice water was first indulged in to quench the chronic thirst, and then the process of disrobing began, one at a time, for there was not room for all to act at once. The fur stuffed boots were pulled off, and the bearskin pants were stripped. Then half of the body was quickly pushed into the bag. A brick of pemmican was next taken out, and the teeth were set in the grind of the bone-like substance. The appetite was withered, but a half pound of cold wildered beef and tallow changes a hungry man's thoughts.

THE SLEEPING BAG BRINGS REAL JOY.

The warm sense of mental and physical force which follows is an interesting study. The movement of the body, as it settles in the bag, is a tugging, tugging, the blinding rays of a beatless sun, the pains of driving snows, and all the bitter elements were absent. The mind, freed of the agitation of frost, wandered to home and better times; under these peculiar circumstances there comes a pleasing sense with the touch of one's own warm skin, while the companionship of the arms and legs, freed of their cumbersome furs, makes a new discovery in the art of getting next to oneself.

Mobish Villages in Flames.

MADRID, Sept. 28.—The capture of the Towns of Nador and Zeluou by the Spanish forces in Morocco is being celebrated here as the virtual end of the war with the Rifis. Despatches received here from Mellilla, Morocco, says that all the villages in the foothills of Mount Gurga, which has been the Moorish stronghold, are in flames.

BADEN-POWELL SCOUTS MOVEMENT GETS START

Strong Committee Formed at Armories To Organize Boys' Corps in Canada. A decided impetus was given to the movement for the formation of Baden-Powell Scouts at a meeting in the Armories last night with Capt. R. S. Williams of the 48th Highlanders in the chair.

The meeting was addressed by F. Todd, Central Y.M.C.A., and Mr. Bennett, both of whom have been associated with the movement in Great Britain, and J. S. Campbell, who was a member of Baden-Powell's Scouts in South Africa.

Representatives were present from the West End Y.M.C.A., Central Y.M.C.A., Jessie Ketchum School and No. 1 Toronto Troop. Baden-Powell's Boy Scouts. This troop was organized in November, 1908, by Pte. Corlis, 48th Highlanders, and has already attained a high state of efficiency.

A committee composed of the following gentlemen was elected for the purpose of extending the movement in Toronto: Capt. R. S. Williams, 48th Toronto Canadian Field; Lieut.-Col. Thompson, drill instructor of the Toronto public schools; J. L. Hughes, chief in public schools; Mr. Bennett, C.Y.M.C.A.; Mr. Graham of Austin & Graham; J. S. Campbell, "Canadian Field" staff.

The promoters of the scheme in Toronto are confident that the boy scouting will be as popular in Canada as it has been in Great Britain, where over 200,000 boy scouts were enrolled during the past eighteen months.

On Thursday next Mr. Campbell will deliver a lecture to the boys of No. 1 Toronto Troop at the armories.
