Visiting Teams.
It is expected that some of the New England professional and semi-professional teams will make tours of the maritime provinces this summer and the first to invade this territory will probably be the Brockton Blues, a semi-pro organization from Massachusetts, under the management of Joseph Ford, a brother of "Lefty" Ford, well known on the local diamond.
Manager Ford has been in touch with some local baseball men and although nothing definite has yet been decided it is expected that the Brockton team will play here during the week of July 29.

Gleaner—Tommy Raymond, a local trainer, is preparing to make his first start of the season on July 4. If present plans carry out he will ship his horses from here about the last day of June, but whether it will be to Houlton or Caribou is still a matter of doubt.
The Caribou card for the fourth is already out and calls for an elaborate racing programme, all the way from $300 to $400 being offered for each class, the day marking the formal opening of the new race track there.
