Shipping Notes.

The str. Degama arrived in port about noon yesterday and anchored in the harbor. She sailed from Shields on April 5th, and will load for South Africa. She docked at the I. C. R. pier about 6.30 o'clock.

BALTIMORE, April 22.—The British ship Barnstable, Capt. Davidson, arrived here today from Port Antonio, with a large hole in her port side and her stem twisted. She was run into at full speed yesterday morning by the steamer Old Point Concord, which runs from Cape Charles City, Va., to Old Point, Va. No one was injured on either vessel, and the Barnstable was able to proceed to Baltimore unassisted. Captain Davidson could not account for the collision.

J. Willard Smith, yesterday received word that the schooner Georgia, Capt. Isaac Smith, arived at Philadelphia on Saturday from St. John after a very rough passage. The vessel lost part of her deck load of laths, her boat, part of her taffrail, and other minor damage. After discharging the Georgia will load sand for Saugus, Maine.

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 22.—
The ice opposite the city has not moved since yesterday and is still held by the two bridges. During the day it has become very much honeycombed and presents this evening a very weak appearance. A move may take place at any time. The jam a few miles above the city still holds, but is gradually growing weaker. When this breaks, the ice will start in its final run.

MONTE CARLO NUW Following Example of Mistresses, Ladies'

MONTE CARLO, April 22—The gambling lady's mald is another sin laid at the door of the smart set.

A maid employed by a well-known woman, now at Monte Carlo, has just lost $600 at the tables, the savings of many years. Many other maids have recently dropped $100 to $250 by imitating their mistresses' system of play.

Women, unaccompanied by their husbands or other masculine escort, take their maids to the casino as chaperons and purse-bearers. The maids lounge about the rooms the greater part of the day and late at hight. Like mistress, like maid; and they soon take to staking surreptitiously their five-france pieces.

When their employers go for afternoon of drives, there is a rush of ladies' when their employers go for afternoon drives, there is a rush of ladies' maids to the tables. One clever French-woman maid to an English countess has cleared $1000 this season. But the majority of the gambling maids go home with empty purses, their lifelong savings drawn from the bank, and often owing considerable sums to other maids, or to friendly valets and other men-servants belonging to their mistress' social set.

The police are determined to stamp out this juvenile rowdyism.

The case against D. R. Jack for obstructing the street in front of his new building on Union street, came up before the magiscitrate yesterday afternoon. Mr. Jack explained that he had sold the barrels which caused the obstruction to Ald. Lewis, and that they were only in the road for a short time. The case was dropped, Mr. Jack promising to keep the street in good order in the future.

The government fishery cruiser Curlew will not be ready to go into commission for a couple of weeks yet. Painters, carpenters, and machinists are now getting her ready. Among the many repairs made, the vessel is receiving a new steam winch forward. It is stated that a commander has not yet been appointed to fill the vacancy occasioned by Capt. Pratt's removal, and it is rumored that Capt. Milne, chief officer of the government steamer Canada is slated for the position. Capt. Milne is a native of the north shore, and a most capable officer.

Vesterday afternoon in the police court Lewis Belyea, who while riding a bicycle on Charlotte street knocked down and injured Mrs. W. L. Robson last Friday, was up before Acting Magistrate Henderson. Belyea admitted that he had had no bell on his wheel at the time of the accident, but explained that one had been put on since. He was let go with a warning.

His lordship Bishop Casey at halfpast four o'clock yesterday afternoon confirmed twenty-six children in the chapel of St. Patrick's Industrial School. His lordship preached an inspliting sermon on the seven gifts of the Holy Ghost, and exhorted the children after the service to carefully preserve in their hearts the graces they had received.

Last night between saven and eight o'clock Officer Crawford was called to the corner of Germain and St James streets where a crowd of twenty or thirty boys were making a disturbance. One of the boys had been tied to a telegraph pole but had got himself almost free when the policeman arrived. The police are determined to stamp out this juvenile rowdyism.

COLONY OF CHINAMEN FOUND IN AUSTRALIA

Hidden Community Numbers Several Thousand, and is Engaged in Cultivating Opium.

SYDNEY, April 22.—A traveller in Northern Queensland, Mr. Hansford, a Melbourne lawyer, brings a story of a hitherto unknown colony of Chinamen in the country near the Gulf of Carpentaria. The news, which has been confirmed, has come as a shock to the advocates of a "White Australia"

The Chinamen, who are said to number thousands, are, it appears camped on arable flats, and are growing vast quantities of optum, which is now a prohibited article in the Commonwealth, except for medicinal purposes. Presumably a market for the drug is found among the rich Chinese store keepers of the north.

The interlopers have made their way to dian Islands, and the Commonwealth Government is now being called upon

A light locomotive and a detachment of officers were ordered to the scene and made the run in about fifteen minutes. Before their arrival the Italian tried to choke the young woman. She reached into a drawer, and, pulling out a revolver, fired point blank at him. He uttered a scream of fright and escaped to the mountains. Upon the arrival of the police Miss Sidel explained the situation, and, with the officers, started out on a diligent search but failed to capture the assailant.
