PRINCE OF WALES' ACTIVITY SURPRISE TO HIS FRIENDS

Hair to the British Throne Visits a Score of Hospitals and Attends Lectures and Banquets.

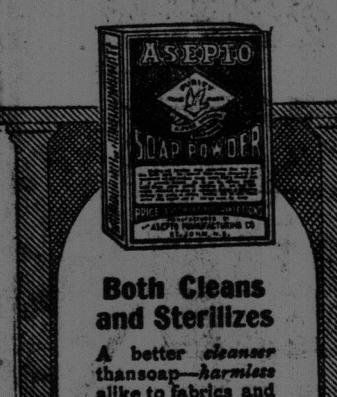

LONDON, March 24.—Many people have been wondering lately how very active the Prince of Wales has been. Hardly a day has passed since his return to London, five or six weeks ago, without his visiting some hospital or public institution.

He has been to about a score of hospitals by now. He has attended certain scientific lectures and made a speech to cadets on patriotism, which has fairly stormed the hearts of the people. Besides all this he has his routine duties and his work in relation to the Duchy of Cornwall, to which he always attends personally. He has dined with the Savage Club and the Automobile Club, and I suppose that these two occasions may be taken as rather less matters of duty than the others.

The only question is whether he does not take his life too seriously. Some of his friends seem to think that the capacity for sheer enjoyment which has been not only a relief but even a valuable asset to King Edward for fifty years has found no place among the Prince's qualities, at least in this place is not in the public eye. His circle of friends is very small, and his house is really the centre of his happiness and England his chief interest, even to a point which almost reaches singularity. The contrast between the King and the Prince works in their personal relations as contrast so often does in extremely well, and it is to be remembered that circumstances have made it more difficult for the Prince than it was for the King to find his public work.

NEWSPAPER-MEN MEET

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 24.—A number of newspaper men, including J. L. Stewart and Mr. Benson, of Chatham, J. P. Maloney, of Woodstock, and H. P. Palmer, of Sackville, are here to attend the meeting of the Nova Scotia Press Association. J. W. Regan, of Halifax, correspondent for the Associated Press, is here to represent the Nova Scotia Press Association.

CROOKS SELL ERIE MAN BIT OF CENTRAL PARK

"For Sale" Sign Looked Genuine—Pennsylvanian Stung for $4,000.

NEW YORK, March 24.—Captain Michael Ratty of the West Sixty-eighth street police station was on the lookout yesterday for two extra clever real estate men, who had sold a goodly section of Central Park to William Sawtelle of Erie, Pa.

Sawtelle, who is quite a stranger here, pleads that he does not come from Erie proper, but from a suburb of that prosperous burg. He came to New York in answer to a real estate advertisement, and he was lured into elaborate real estate offices in West Forty-third street.

Sawtelle had with him $4,000 to bind the proposed deal. The party, two men and Sawtelle, got into an automobile and were whizzed up to Central Park, where that proposed part of the city's property that was to go to the man from Erie for a consideration, was located. This had been neatly labelled with a small sign, "For sale. Apply to Charles Hanks, — West Forty-third street." Sawtelle was amused of the lot. He went to the Plaza to close the deal. Meanwhile a confederate pulled down the sign.

Sawtelle paid down $4,000, and the owners took a mortgage on "their property for the remaining $2,000 and handed over the deed.

A LONG-SILENT CITY

Discovered by a Mountain Climber in California.

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 24.—The most important archaeological discovery ever made in the southwest is reported by B. F. Bond, who has just returned from a trip to the San Jacinto Mountains. Mr. Bond found the ruins of an ancient city of unknown origin, hidden in the mountains and containing about one thousand stone houses. Charles F. Lummis, historian of Los Angeles, and a noted archaeologist, says no such ruins had ever been reported before, and that the discovery is of the greatest importance to archaeologists and historians of the early period of California. Mr. Bond immediately sent accurate information concerning his find to the scientists of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, so that it may be properly exploited.

The discovery was made by accident. Mr. Bond was tramping in the mountains when he stumbled upon the silent city. The houses were all one-room dwellings of two sizes. The older and larger houses were 12 by 12 feet, and the smaller and better preserved were 8 by 12 feet. The houses were built along regularly laid out streets paved with huge blocks of stone that had been covered 30 days before by water. This earth had been washed away by the rains, leaving the stones bare. At the point of greatest width of the city there are seven of these paved streets.

LORD BURTON'S

HEART REMOVED

LONDON, March 24.—The will of this late Lord Burton shows that the gross value of the estate entered at the principal probate registry is £1,000,000 at least, so far as at present can be ascertained. After naming executors, the will directs that "before my body be placed in the coffin the spine and spinal marrow of the neck shall be completely severed by a competent surgeon, my heart removed and placed in a separate vessel, to be enclosed in the coffin."

SAYS WIFE DESERTED WHEN BURNS MADE HIM UGLY

Husband, Seeking Divorce, Tells of Woman's Love That Died as She Saw His Disfigured Face

PHILADELPHIA, March 24.—The story of a love that was killed when the husband became disfigured for life was told in the statement filed by Frederick P. Sulzbach of 1441 Germantown avenue, yesterday, in a suit for divorce from his wife on the ground of desertion. The suit will not be contested, it is said.

The Sulzbachs were married in the summer of 1900, after a short but ardent courtship. Sulzbach at that time was a picture of health and vigor and a man of unusual physical attractiveness. They lived happily together until April, 1903, the papers say, and then came the accident that marred the appearance of the husband for life.

Sulzbach was horribly burned and was taken to a hospital. The proof of the affection his wife bore him, he says, was shown in the fact that she would wait until his face was healed, so long as the bandages were kept on his face, he says, he received the most devoted and tender attentions from her.

The day toward which the injured man had been looking, however, forever came. The bandages were removed, and he was assured that in a short time he could return to his home. He could hardly wait until his wife should come to pay her daily visit, to tell her the good news.

But when Mrs. Sulzbach came, he says, there was a change. She found him with both ears burned off and with his face covered with scars which would never be effaced. She shuddered, he said, and left the hospital after a shorter visit than usual.

That was the last time she visited him, Sulzbach asserts. When well enough to leave the hospital, he says, he went home. But there was no one to greet him nor to care for the little children, who had left him, he says, after deciding it was impossible to live with a man so disfigured.

Sulzbach says he still loves his wife, and that he has repeatedly sought a reconciliation. But his wife has not returned. She is living with friends on Seventh street, north of Susquehanna avenue.

ANOTHER SCANDAL

IN SERBIAN COURT

The Serbian Kolakovic was removed to a hospital last week suffering from serious internal injuries, and he is now in the hospital. According to the report of the doctors who performed an autopsy on the body the man suffered from a serious injury consequent upon falling down stairs. The press and the public, however, refuse to accept this explanation, and openly voiced their suspicion that the Crown Prince was responsible for the death of his servant. The scandal grew to such proportions that it was impossible to hush it up, and the final outcome was the sensational announcement of the Crown Prince to the Premier.

Immediately upon the receipt of the Prince's letter the Premier notified the members of the cabinet of its contents and summoned an urgent meeting of the cabinet for this afternoon at which King Peter will preside. The action of the Crown Prince has created a profound sensation here. The national assembly at once adjourned upon hearing the news. The newspapers issued extra editions and the intelligence quickly caused the assemblage of excited knots of people in the public places of the city. According to the terms of the Serbian constitution the renunciation of the Crown Prince can be accepted only by the Grand National Assembly. Minister of Finance Protos declared in an interview today that the Crown Prince could not voluntarily renounce his rights to the throne, explaining that such a step must have the sanction of the National Assembly before which the matter will be laid tomorrow.

LUMLERMAN WON'T MAKE

PUBLIC THEIR REQUESTS

Delegation Saw the Surveyor General and Will Meet the Government Later.

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 25.—The New Brunswick Lumbermen and Limit Holders Association had a meeting this morning and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: President, John P. Burdick; Vice-President, Henry Hayward; Secy-Treas., R. A. Lawlor. A delegation composed of Messrs. White, Dumas, Hickey, Burdick, Hayward, Burdick, Crocker, Robinson, Gunter and Curran afterward met the Surveyor General and presented a memorial recommending changes in the timber regulation. After an informal talk it was agreed that the delegation should meet the whole executive before the office of the session and discuss the question. It was decided not to make public the contents of the memorial in the meantime. Announcement that small lumber operators in the North Shore were organizing, probably influenced this decision.

GETTING FEW FACTS IN THE WHITLA ABDUCTION

Prosecution Likely to be Conducted in Pennsylvania—High Praise for the Police.

CLEVELAND, O., March 24.—J. P. Whitla, of Sharon, Pa., father of Willie, the central figure in the kidnapping case, did not return to Sharon with the other members of his family yesterday. He asserted he is in Cleveland to clear up some private law affairs.

Charges against Boyle and the woman who claims to be his wife, are expected to be handed down by the grand jury today. Further efforts to obtain a satisfactory identification of the woman in the case will be made today. Thomas F. Boyle, of Sharon, Pa., a brother of the man under arrest, has arrived in Cleveland today. He has asked permission to see the woman detained at the central police station and he may be able to throw some light on her identity.

To the Associated Press Mr. Whitla said he and Mrs. Whitla have the highest appreciation for the constant activity of the police all over the country.

"No understanding as to prosecution has yet been reached," said Mr. Whitla. "We want justice administered and since the crime was committed in Pennsylvania we believe that is the proper place in which to bring the criminals to trial."
