

PYTHIANS KEEP ANNIVERSARY
More Than Four Hundred
Knights With Their Ladies
in York Assembly Rooms

The entertainment held Tuesday night in the York theatre assembly rooms for the Knights of Pythias in honor of the forty-third anniversary of the founding of the order in this city, was a brilliant success. More than 400 knights with their lady friends were present, many coming from a distance. The first part of the evening was given up to a musical and literary programme of excellence, and this was followed by an informal dance. The whole entertainment was very much enjoyed.

Past Chancellor A. Dodge was in the chair and in the course of his opening address he sketched the history of the Knights of Pythias in this city. He said that the order was founded in the city of Washington on Feb. 19, 1864. The first lodge to be organized under the British steps in this matter, and for some years the lodge met in the old Academy of Music, Germain street.

At the present time there are more than 200 members of No. 1 New Brunswick Lodge, Union Lodge, No. 2, was instituted in March, 1874, with thirty members, and on Nov. 12 of last year St. John Lodge, No. 39, was started with a membership of forty. The whole membership in the city now is about 500. In addition to these three subordinate lodges, there are two companies of the uniform rank, Victoria No. 1 and Cygnus No. 5, with a total enrollment of about 100 members.

After Chancellor Dodge's address, which was very interesting and was received with much applause, Harrison's orchestra played an overture and Dr. Whit Cairns, Mrs. E. A. Warden and Mrs. Otto Nase sang solos, and were obliged to respond to generous encores. Other selections, which were heartily enjoyed, were given solo by W. E. Bowden and a reading by A. E. McKinley. A string orchestra, with the two Messrs. Hoyt and Messrs. Smith and Donahue, also contributed to the enjoyment of the evening. The dancing was in charge of a strong committee and floor managers, and the programme consisted of twelve numbers and extras. There were six waltzes on the card, two two-steps, two sets of lancers, one military and a gallop. As soon as the dancing began the orchestra, which began to serve supper and many of the older folks then left early, the younger people keeping the dance going till a late hour.

MRS. THAW BREAKS DOWN UNDER JEROME'S FLAYING

"Did you refuse Thaw solely because of the occurrence with White?" "Because I had been found out." "Who told you you had been caught?" "Friends of White's."

"So it was not because of the occurrence, but because you had been found out?" "Was both together." "You remember writing to White from Boulogne?" "Yes."

She added that she wrote to White because "my mother would give me no peace until I did it. She said I was ungrateful to White and things like that."

Mrs. Thaw identified another letter written by her while she was in Paris to a married actress as follows: "Your suggestion that the Tenderloin has immigrated has panned out. Every where we go we find shady nooks. Shurt and a lot of others are here. We were dining at the Cafe Paris the other evening when the whole bunch came in. We joined parties and went out to such harmless places as the Dead Rat, etc."

There was one jolly man "who puts things on the blink wherever he goes. He is 60, but is a spry chicken. We took him along for fun. We made things hum. We started home when the markets were getting busy. Harry bought some strawberries and things and I spent the rest of the day cooking. Harry is getting a new automobile and as soon as it is ready, we are going to Switzerland (cheese) land. Then when we return my voice is going to be cultivated. Be good and write me another letter soon. Your letters are wonderful. I have got (blank) all worked up about you so send another photograph, if it is a good one. You must come over soon."

Mr. Jerome then reverted to the money deposited in a trust company by Stanford White for the witness. Mrs. Thaw said she could not tell the date of the first deposit.

"I don't like to state things that I am not sure about," she protested. "I don't want you to," with an ugly nod.

"In the letters Stanford White wrote you didn't renege with you in regard to extravagance?" "Not particularly."

"Did he buy a revolver, threatened to kill Thaw, and also stated that Thaw arrived in an electric automobile and was alone?" "Yes, one man and one woman."

A man named Boman, doorkeeper at the theatre, who testified after the trial that White returned to the theatre late at night, and was accompanied by a woman, and also stated that Thaw arrived in an electric automobile and was alone.

"What was the name of the theatre that night?" "The Grand Opera."

"And left there about 4 a. m.?" "I don't know what time it was."

"Had there been much wine drunk?" "At that time it was your custom to drink considerable wine with your meals."

"Yes, at that time, in 1903." "Did Thaw sometimes drink a good deal?" "Yes."

"Was he easily affected by wine?" "Not particularly."

Gentle Laxative Needed For the Aged and Feeble

With the advance of years the vital functions of the body slow down. The organs of secretion grow weak, the peristaltic action of the bowels is perceptibly lessened and dangerous constipation develops.

What is the result? Poisons, substances, overburden the system, the circulation is engerged with wastes, the brain is filled with blood, the hands and feet grow numb with cold, the whole body twitches and trembles. A drastic cathartic is dangerous. Nothing will cure but a gentle laxative like Dr. Hamilton's Pills; this action not only cleanses the stomach, liver and kidneys, but is directed to the secretory glands, and increases their fluidity and volume.

Hamilton's Pills are different from other pills. Their activity in moving the secretory apparatus is profound, but their action is so mild, so free from griping that it is scarcely possible you have taken medicine at all. Yet they do so efficiently and this is why they are so widely prescribed for old folks who need a laxative and an antiseptic.

Cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Saltness, Dizziness, Colicky Bowels, Vertigo, De-pessa, Slow Liver, Bad Breath, Slow Drain, Poor Appetite.

A Guarantee in Each Case.

For your own sake, keep Dr. Hamilton's Pills within reach. Take them whenever you feel unwell; try them out the entire system, keep it pure and in working order. Purely vegetable in composition, safe for young or old, no systemic comparison with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers.
