In this way the work will be done and the contractors will save money, and what matters the de ay or injury to Bathurst so long as the government can save a few thousand dollars to their friends, especially to ome of those who contributed so largeto the last provincial election fund in he northern counties? There is another mor, which seems to have a pretty solid foundation, to the effect that some our Bathurst wire-pullers are deeply interested in a certain dredging com any which has a contract not a thousand miles from here. This may account half-hearted attempt made by them to hold the Restigouche here, and the utter collapse of the fight being made by them the moment our little town received the visit of some of the leading members of the dredging com-

Entomologists Inclined to Think Parasite Has Been at Work -Only Two in Six Acres of

The farmers and potato growers hail with delight the gradual disappearance of the potato bug, as noted in The Telegraph yesterday. A few days ago a study of a potato area in Nerepis was made, and in the six acres under cultiplants. Reports similar to this come from all districts.

Another proof of considerable worth that may be adduced in support of the fact that the day of the potato bug is fast drawing to a close, is the decrease in the demand on paris green this season in comparison to the enormous quantity sold last year. Merchants, although pleased to think of the coming extinction of this destructive pest, said yesterday they would lose considerable by the falling off in the call for paris green, which is used almost exclus this purpose. As to the cause of this remarkable disappearance, the most credible rea son offered is the internecine work of a parasite, probably in fungus form. Great interest is evinced in the denouement, and local authorities on entomology stated yesterday that the matter would be taken up and given thorough

Moncton, July 27—Henry C. LeBlanc, aged 87, son of Cyrille LeBlanc, of St. Mary's, Kent county, was drowned this morning in the new city reservoir, about four miles out the McLanghlin Road.

LeBlanc and two companions went into the reservoir bathing, neither being able to swim. The water was not deep and the men were simply wading around when LeBlanc ell into a deep hole made by the removal of a stump and sank. Timely assistance might have saved the man, but it was not forth-coming, as the men with LeBlanc were umable to swim.

LeBlanc was employed with the Mc-manus Company, on the construction of the dam. The body was recovered and will be sent to his home in St. Mary's and the outcome of his serious illness may not be known for a few days.
