

Prince Edward Lodge, No. 14

R. McNeill, M. D.	G. M.	Daniel Ross	P. M.
R. B. McLeod	P. M.	R. Yeo McCoubrey	S. W.

The Most W. Grand Master delivered his annual Address as follows:—

The Grand Master's Address.

The Cyclometer of time has completed our 21st anniversary, and it affords me great pleasure to extend to you a hearty greeting. When one year ago, you placed me in the Grand East, I assure you it was with fear and trembling I accepted the duties and responsibilities attached to so important and honorable a position, but, relying upon your common sense, support and good will, as men and masons who had the interests of the Craft uppermost, I shrank not from the performance of any duty which I believed conscientiously devolved upon me. It behoves us now to return thanks to the Most High, for his goodness and mercy vouchsafed unto us during the year. A sad bereavement cast its shadows over the Loyal household, in the death of Prince Henry of Battenburg, while in the Active Military Service of his adopted Country. This sorrow I feel assured has elicited from you profound sympathy for the widowed Princess and our beloved Queen, for the Grand Master of England, and all the members of the Royal Family.

NECROLOGY.

It is but proper before we enter upon the active duties of the session, that we remember the fraternal dead.—The grim messenger has invaded the family of our esteemed and venerable Grand Secretary, and removed by death a beloved wife, a dutiful mother, and an esteemed member of the social community. Mrs. MacKelvie died on the 21st November, 1895, aged 56 years. She was a