

dearest God. A Christian should be the happiest, most manly, and most courteous of all men. You will see I think to a Christian and to be one now while you are young.

In this way you would glorify God, and be doing what is for your own best interest, and also what would be a source of great comfort and satisfaction to your Father & Mother. If you can find time to send me a few lines at any time, I shall be most pleased to hear from you.
I shall be glad to hear anything you like to write to me about.
Please give my kindest regards to your Father, Mother, Sister & Men.

I shall be very much interested to hear from you.

My dear Willie,

Often think of you all in your pleasant happy home at Woodville, and hope that you are all well and happy as usual.
I suppose you are busy at School; you will soon be reading for the University; and then in a few years, if spared, you will be a man entering upon the duties of some profession, law, I suppose.
I think you told me that once yourself. You will let
