

Making bigger bank deposits on narrower profit margins

It's got to be done. The grocers of this country have got to succeed and make money — notwithstanding all sorts of trade limitations and profit restrictions. How can it be done? There is one big, sure way. See to your weighing. Give just weight always. The multiplied careless weighings every day eat deep into your profits. And see to your price calculations. Cut out mistakes—your own and your clerks'. Don't try to do what a machine can do better. Use a Dayton Computing and Automatic Scale—the finest in the world.

"If It's a Dayton, It's Right"
