omparisons, for Profits' Sake.

You remember the catch phrase, "The Pill that Will?" Windsor Salt is the salt that will, but there is no catch to the statement--it is fact--not theory or assumption on our part. We make the comparison for your profits' sake. Windsor Salt will--hold trade every single time. Salt is salt--but all salt is not pure and white and dry (for the table) and perfectly crystalized. Windsor Salt is the salt that will--it is the salt of double profit--profitable for you and the users too. You hear this everywhere, "as pure as Windsor Salt."
