TO HELEN

HELEN, thy beauty is to me Like those Nicanor bars of yore. That gently, o'er a perfumed sea, The wavy, wavy-wanderer bore.

On desperate seas long wont to roam, Thy hyacinth hair, thy classic face, Thy Naiad airs, have brought me home To the glory that was Greece.

And the grandeur that was Rome. Lo! in yon brilliant window-niche How statue-like I see thee stand, The agate lamp within thy hand!

Ab, Psyche, from the regions which Are Holy-Land!

EDGAR ALLAN POE. (Born January 19, 1809; died, October, 7, 1849.)

MARRIED

On Thursday evening, December 28, at 7:30 o'clock, the marriage took place in the Methodist Church, Marysville, before a large and fashionable congregation from Marysville, Frederickton, and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. S. Rigby, of St. Andrews, and Mary Anne Campbell Gibson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Robinson, of Marysville. The bride, who was unattended, wore her travelling dress.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Harrison. During the signing of the register by the "official" couple and the witnesses, Mr. A. G. Robinson and the Earl of Ashburnham, Mrs. Walter Milliken, and Mr. St. John sang Love's Coronation.

The grooms gifts were: to the bride a seal skin coat; to the four bridesmaids; to the organist a brooch of Cameo and Pearl; to Mrs. Milliken, a crescent of Pearls. Among the many beautiful gifts received by the young couple were:

a Heintzman Piano from the bride's brother; a chest of silver from the Earl and Countess of Ashburnham; linen and china from the bride's family; silver from the grooms' family; and silver from Sir Max and Lady Aitken.

Mr. and Mrs. Rigby, who are well known in society circles throughout the province, will reside in Gagetown, where the groom is Resident Engineer on the St. John and Quebec Valley Railway.

SMALL-McDONALD. A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Ben McDonald on Wednesday, Dec. 27, when her daughter Fannie Beatrice was united in wedlock to Mr. Merrill Elliott Small, of White Head.

Mr. Warren C. Morse, acted as best man, and Miss Rhoda G. Small, sister of the groom acted as bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Mason, Rector of Grand Manan, after which dainty refreshments were served by the bride's colleagues of the St. Paul's Girls' Club. Mrs. W. Ingalls played the Wedding March, and also provided the music of the evening's programme, accompanied by Mr. Wm. Kiscadden, of Woodwards Cove on the violin. A very large number of choice presents were on view, which show the esteem and goodwill held for the happy pair. They are living at the Harbor for the present time, where all wish them "Bon-Voyage" on life's journey.

FOR THE CENTENARY OF KEATS'S SONNET "ON FIRST LOOKING INTO CHAPMAN'S HOMER."

I KNEW a scientist, an engineer, Student of tensile strengths and calculus. A man who loved a cantilever truss And always wore a pencil on his ear. My friend believed that poets all were queer.

And every folk ridiculous: But one night, when it chanced that three of us Were reading Keats aloud, he stopped to hear.

Lo, a new planet swam into his ken! His eager mind reached for it and took hold. Ten years are by: I see him now and then. And at alumni dinners, he cajoled, He humbles gravely, to the chiding men.

Much have I travelled in the realms of gold. CHRISTOPHER MORLEY. —Reprinted from The New York Evening Post.

NEWS OF THE SEA

New Orleans, Jan. 10.—The Leyland line steamship Alexandrian has been torpedoed and sunk, presumably near the English coast, according to a telegram received by the line's local officials to-day. The Alexandrian sailed from New Orleans, December 21, for Liverpool, and carried about 7,000 bales of cotton, in addition to a miscellaneous cargo.

The Alexandrian's 4,677 gross tons carried a crew of about forty-five. The message received here said it was reported all the crew had been saved.

Baltimore, Jan. 10.—The captain and six members of the crew of the British schooner Swart Harris, were landed here to-day from the British steamer Kabinbra, which took the men off their vessel about 70 miles east of Newfoundland on New Year's day.

The Harris was abandoned rudely and leaving behind. She was bound from Cadix, Spain, to St. John's, Nfld., with a cargo of salt.

London, January 10.—The British steamer Andoni has been sunk, Lloyd's shipping agency announced to-day. The Andoni was an Elder Line steamer of 3,180 tons gross. She was bound from Cadiz, Spain, to St. John's, Nfld., with a cargo of salt.

London, January 10.—Lloyd's announces that the British steamer Barnes, 2,820 tons gross, has been sunk, and that the British steamer Lyndal is reported to have been sunk. The Lyndal registered 3,025 tons.

The British steamer Lorca has been posted at Lloyd's as overdue. The Lorca left Pensacola on October 21, and Norfolk on October 29 for Queenstown. She is a vessel of 4,120 tons gross, built at South Shields in 1910.

SCHR. EMMA McADAM ASHORE Boston, Jan. 5.—Efforts are being made to float the two schooners which went ashore Wednesday night in the southeast of the early evening. The tugs of the Coast Wrecking Company were ordered yesterday, to pull the schooner Wanda, of St. John, from the sand near Point Alberton, and arrangements are being made to salvage the two-master Emma McAdam, in the same straits.

The McAdam sprang a leak immediately upon stranding, and her captain, James Hutton, ordered his crew to the boats. They rowed to Spectacle Island and were able to speak from the shore, when they returned to the schooner, they found that she had rolled over on her side. The men saved most of their belongings.

The vessel left Perth Amboy on Dec. 5, laden with coal for St. Andrews. She encountered severe weather from the outset and anchored in Buzzard's Bay to escape the storm. The captain planned to go through the Cape Cod Canal, but owing to the suspension of traffic due to the sinking of the steamer Bayport, the schooner was forced to remain at anchor for three weeks before the thoroughfare was open.

More bad weather came upon the McAdam in Massachusetts waters, and headed for Provincetown, where she remained until Wednesday morning, when she was ordered to the boats. A storm struck her, and the captain decided to head into Boston for shelter. It was all the better for the schooner, as she had no trouble in making the island. The McAdam is owned by David Murphy, of Calicut, the rear commander of the vessel, who remained on shore this trip on account of illness.
