It would appear that from Count Von Bernstorff down through the ranks of the minor consul officials, all expected treatment that would be most humiliating, the sort of treatment it is reported German officials handed out to the British' who left Germany early in the war, and more recently to American officials and their wives making their way out of that country following the breaking, off of diplomatic relations by the Reality Stations. It is stated that the majority of the German officials on the Freder-ick VII were given permission to attend divine sevrices on the ship, while crowds that went out from Halifax to the port where the ship is anchored got a long distance view of the detained party as it passed on the vessel's deck for exercise.

The care intorduced when the ves-sel arrived to prevent any unofficial communication reaching or leaving the ship was in full evidence yesterday and today. Patrol boats circled the ship and guard was placed on shore.

Residents of houses nearby were instructed to hide all lights, while wireless of the Frederik was dismantled as soon as the vessel reached the harbor.

To give sweater coats a new lease of life

Now that sweater coats are getting more expensive, it is more than ever desirable that you wash yours with LUX. Of all things a sweater coat, which is seen so much, must be kept soft, fluffy, fleecy and "new" in appearance. You can keep yours that way and wash it again and again if you do this:

Pour boiling water over LUX flakes—pure essence of soap—allowing 3 or 4 tablespoonfuls for every gallon of water you use. Whip into a creamy lather—a few seconds is needed. Then put in the garment and stir it about. Let it soak until cool enough for your hands to squeeze the water out of the coat—the dirt just runs away. Rinse in two or three relays of tepid water, and hang to dry.

Very simple. Anyone can do it—just a few minutes work and you get a result that the most expert French cleaner might well envy. LUX won't shrink woollens. Won't hurt any fabric or color that pure water can safely touch.
