hibition commission was one of the greatthe judgment which the Privy Council will render within a few months upon the question which the Canadian Governmen has submitted to it."

The Bishop evidently concluded that this extraordinary effort to influence the court was not without effect, for in a circular to the clergy of Quebec he says:

"The most eminent Prefect at onc placed himself in communication with Cardinal Vaughan, and it may be that his intervention has contributed on his part to create in the English official world an opinion favorable to the Catholics of Manitoba. However that may be, his Emi nence wrote on the 18th March that he had siezed the oceasion of the favorable judgment of the Privy Council to send a circular letter t ...l the Bishops of Can-ada, trusting much to the zeal and prudence of these prelates to secure a happy issue to so serious a business.'

In addition to the Bishop's report to the Pope, and his letter to the Quebec clergy, there is also published the letter from Cardinal Ledochowski, Prefect of the Propaganda at Rome, in reply to the Bishop's report, and addressed to the Canadian bishops, in which the Cardinal, voic ing the sentiments of the Pope, says:

"The Sacred Congregation of the Prop-aganda is informed that laws very onerous for the Catholics of Manitoba have been recently adopted by the provincial gov-ernment. That fact is the more to be deplored because those laws are contrary to a condition of things established in favor of the Catholics of that province by solwho were understood to have had the emn compacts, and because they discrimi-nate against Catholic schools, which had been flourishing in that country. It is therefore, with reason that in order to remove such a serious danger all the Can-adian Bishops have undertaken the protection of those Catholics by most prais worthy communications with the Federal

However, there are still been wanting. But obstacles of no light character have up to this moment pre-vented the carrying into effect of these good intentions. Now, however, that by the judgment of the English Privy Counthree vacancies in the senate, caused by the deaths of Senators Boyd, Glasier and Burns, and the Herald will not be surently given, full authority is given to the Federal Government to deal with this most important business, there is hope that the affair will take such a turn that both the undoubted rights of religion and the good of the country will be accomplished. But the opportunity must be seized without loss of time, and the orable members of the useless senate, protection of those Catholics must not be abandoned. Therefore, this Sacred Coun-cil, in a matter of such great importance, cannet but encourage and confirm by its words the zeal displayed by the Catholics and especially by the Canadian bishops. While also praising them for the earnest in his elections from the new senator. Mr. Baird is still a comparatively young man While also praising them for the earnest work already done for that most just cause, and one who stands well in public estimatwe express the hope that they will, with all their power, prosecute the noble work thus commenced and press it to a happy thus commen termination.

The publication of these documents, as we have said, complicates the school question, and has fallen as a thunderbolt among the politictans at Ottawa. The Protestants of course resent the interference of the Bishop and from Rome, while the Roman Catholics realize that the action of the Church will render more difficult the securing of the desired legislation for the Manitoba minority.

A POLITICAL OVERTURN.

The surprise in political circles is the defeat of the Rosebery government, in the Assembly vacant. which occurred in the Imperial House of Commons Friday night, when a motion to reduce the war estimates was carried by a vote of 132 to 125. Lord Rosebery tendered the resignation of his ministry to the Queen at once and, and Lord Salisbury, the Tory leader, has been invited to form a ministry. A good deal of excitement was caused at Three Rivers, Quebec, Sunday, by the baloon ascension of a cow. When about one hundred feet high, the conductor of the balloon got the cords mixed and dropped his own parachute. The cow came down attached to her parachute at a furious speed, although she was not hurt. The man started up, hanging to the balloon, and when three hundred feet high, fell into the St. Lawrence. He was rescued.
