Ben Davis.

Where is old Ben Davis, that widely famed galoot? May guardian angels save us from Ben and all his fruit! In office and in chapel men roast that total loss; that fierce and futile apple that old Ben put across. The barber men who shave us the boys who shine our boots, all jump on old Ben Davis, and cuss his misfit fruits. And for Ben's apple loathing will evermore endure—that wolf in man's clothing, that whited sepulchre. It typifies the shoddy, it's false as human sin; so slick in outer body, so bum and cheap within. The red Ben Davis apple is tempting, smooth and smart; but when with it you grapple it simply breaks your heart; you cuss the name of Davis, and grind your teeth and hiss: "Why does the monster brave us by springing fruit like this?" So gandy fakes still tempt us, beguile us everywhere, and may the gods exempt us, and keep us from the snare!

British Imperial Club, N.Y. City

There are probably very few of our readers who are aware that a most attractive club-house has recently been established in New York for the benefit of those who are accustomed to visit that city from time to time, and the news should prove of special interest to ladies, because it was in order to provide convenient quarters for our countrywomen when visiting New York without an escort that the undertaking was originally started. We refer to the British Imperial Club, which was opened about a year ago and whose rooms at 108 East 30th Street it was recently our privilege to inspect. Housed in one of New York's handsome old residences within easy access of the shopping and theatre districts the members of this club are indeed to be congratulated.

One enters a spacious hallway furnished as a lounge and sees beyond an inviting glimpse of the large dining room where real old English dinners, such as roast beef with Yorkshire pudding and apple pie, are served exactly as they would be in the British Isles. The club rooms on the floor above are equally attractive, and as you sit and watch the crackling embers in the wide fire place while chatting with English friends over 5 o'clock tea and real thin bread and butter, you can well imagine that you are once more in far away England so thoroughly homelike is the whole atmosphere. Indeed the housekeeper was formerly with the Ladies' Park Club in London.

These rooms form a most attractive setting for dances, teas, musicales, etc., and several such functions have already been successfully held. Miss Beatrice Harraden, the celebrated English authoress, was entertained on her recent visit to the city and expressed herself delighted with the experience. One large room is set apart for private entertainments, the two upper floors being devoted to bedrooms.

Not only is the British Imperial Club the first British organization in the United States to have a club-house of its own, but we believe we are correct in stating further that it alone shares with the National Arts Club of New York the distinction of having a mixed membership.

It is confidently expected that the coming season will be one of great activity. It is intended to set apart one afternoon each week on which to hold an informal tea and to open the club rooms to British visitors each Friday evening, and we strongly advise anyone who may be contemplating a visit to New York to get in touch with the Secretary so that they may have the opportunity during their stay of living in what one enthusiast has already described as a corner of Old England in the heart of New York.

Picked Up Schr.

Chatham, Mass., Nov.—The schooner Henrietta Simmons, which was sighted with her sails blown away, last Friday, by the British steamer Anglian, 35 miles south-east of Boston lightship, anchored here to-day flying distress signals. She was taken in tow later by the revenue cutter Androscoggin, which had been in search of her since her condition was reported.

The Henrietta Simmons was bound from South Amboy for Augusta, Me. Her owner is J. W. Parker, of Portland, Maine.

Clean gilt pictures frames by putting a gill of vinegar into a pint of soda water. To remove all dust from the frames, dip a large camel's hair brush into the mixture, squeeze it partly dry, then brush the gilt, doing a small part at a time.

WE ARE THE VICTORS

As Proclaimed by the Housekeepers—the best judges.

We knew we would win their approval as we had so many advantages to offer. We enumerate them again for those that may not have seen or heard of them.

1st—We produce our own lumber which goes into the Furniture and saves considerable in cost.

2nd—We have the Surface Oak finish for our Furniture, which is the only thing of its kind in the country.

3rd—We import our own Coverings for our Parlor Suites, thus saving two duties, as most all the imported suites come from Canada and the United States, and they have to import their Covering from France or some of the European countries, and pay duty into Canada or the States. We avoid the second duty by getting the Covering ourselves and having the frames made here.

4th—We have our Springs made from the wire by the only Weaver in the country; also the Oxford or Copper Wire Spring by machines too.

5th—We have our Mattresses made by machinery in our own building, the only machines of its kind in the country. It can produce 50 against 10 by hand, thus saving considerable in cost.

6th—We are producing the Excelsior or Wood Fibre and cutting the cost in two, which will mean considerable saving in the making of Mattresses.

7th—We are also selling agents for the celebrated Ideal Beds and Springs, and sell at factory price.

8th—We have also the Combination Lath and Spring Bed, the only thing of its kind in the country.

9th—Having the factory in the same building, we can handle all sizes, all repairing; in fact you can choose your own Coverings for Parlor Suites, Mattresses, &c., and have it made to order.

10th—Our motto (last but not least) is to sell at the lowest possible prices, and despite the serious advance in prices all around, we are where possible reducing the prices which should appeal to every housekeeper when in need of furniture and furnishings, as we now by arrangement work from the "Tree to the Home," thus cutting out all middlemen's profit.

Train Jacked a Moose.

An engine "running light," one dark night, was derailed by a big bull moose in New Brunswick. The driver explained that he had seen the animal standing on the track, staring intently at the approaching headlight, but until close up to it had not imagined that it would remain there to be killed. He had however whistled, and then reversed his engine as it drew near the moose. For this he was greatly blamed by the superintendent, who explained that having made the mistake of supposing that the moose would not, or could not drive its gaze from that glaring light, he should have crowded on all steam in the hope of throwing the huge carcass aside with the cowcatcher.—Montreal Standard.

SEALING NORTH.—When the Invermore was north seals were very plentiful from Nain to Rigolet, and especially at Hamilton Inlet. The sealers were busily engaged catching them in nets. Not for many years did the people of the Labrador coast meet with such profitable results at sealing, as they anticipate this season.
