Controlling Your Life!

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

The things that happen to us and the way we take them, these two factors make up the whole of life. The things that happen to us we can only partially control; the way we take them we can entirely control. And yet, while most people struggle and plan and contrive all their lives long to control the things that happen to them, comparatively few set themselves to control the way they take these things.

I am speaking not only of the big things that happen now and then, but of the little things that happen every day and hour and minute.

When The Child Upsets The Milk.
At a dinner table in a certain house where I once stayed, one of the children upset a cup of milk. "The father, a man of nervous, irritable habits, at once began to fuss. "Look at that milk, all over the tablecloth and the floor! It will ruin the carpet! Look out or it will get on your dress, Margaret! Can't you be less awkward?"—to the embarrassed child. "There it goes onto that chair!"

During this tirade the mother had swiftly but quietly righted the cup, mopped up the milk, laid a napkin over the soiled spot and soothed the child, who was ready to burst into tears, all without any appearance of hurry, any show of nervousness or irritability. Having done all that could be done, she slid into her seat, assured her anxious husband that the spot could easily be removed from the carpet, and closed the incident by saying:

"The Pick of The Garden."

That is what you will likely say when you have tasted Homestead Tea.

We have just received a fresh shipment; the quality is the nearest approach to perfection that art and skill can produce.

All Women of all Denominations

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Suffer me to use the columns of your paper to appeal to all the women of all denominations in Newfoundland to very earnestly pray to God, as instructed by their own Churches especially at this time for the success of the Prohibition movement. Perhaps 12 o'clock, noon, might be the best time for Universal Intercession and according to the Faith of the Faithful it shall be unto them.

"More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." Do all the voters realize that to vote against Prohibition would be to assist in destroying the brother or sister for whom (we all believe) Christ died.

Let every wife, mother and sister persistently pray for their enlightenment, even as the W. C. T. U. did in its infancy when all the saloons of Hillsboro were closed in one week. Yours sincerely,
EXTREMELY ANXIOUS.

Vigorol

If you want to feel well, bright and cheery, full of ambition; be able to move about quick and smartly—VIGOROL, the Great French Tonic, will brace you up—it cleanses the whole system. If the manufacturers could only impress this upon every one who does not feel as they ought to, the world would owe them a great gratitude; but all we can do is to ask you to try one bottle and see for yourself. The change will be wonderful. You need a spring medicine—then take VIGOROL. Sold at all drug stores.

Pack glass or china in hay which is slightly damp. This will prevent the articles from slipping about.

If you are run down from La Grippe or Bronchitis, take "The D. & L." Emulsion. It will soon build up your weight and strength. 50c. and $1.00 bottles. Davis & Lawrence Co., Montreal.

Hr. Grace and Prohibition.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—We are now in the height of the prohibition fight. This fight reminds me of the present war as it is a battle for right against oppression and slavery. The meeting last night must have been very interesting. Tom was there and he brought home every word that was spoken so full of interest was he in all that was said. He says the remarks of Rev. Dr. Jones were truly wonderful, and added Tom, if all the rum-sellers were there and listened to his castigation of their trade they would quit the job at once. The other speakers of the evening were all did well, were Messrs. A. A. Parsons, J. P. Downey, M.H.A., E. Parsons, M.H.A., Thomas Hanrahan, M.A., and John Casey, J.P. William Ward, Esq., was chairman of the meeting. Oh, the liquor traffic must go, as a protection to the young and rising generation. A few words on rum from my feeble pen won't hurt.
Red Rum—Let us get it in a clearer light by reading it from the last letter to the first murderer. And is it not so? The young man who indulges in liquor is committing murder in different ways. He is murdering his chances in life, ruining his health, losing his friends except of course, those who while apparently friendly are his bitterest enemies. I can recall to memory men who started out in life well, but yielded to the temptation, were egged on from one degree to another until they found they could no longer stand. They could not retrace their steps, and on they went step by step down the road to destruction. We have heard liquor dealers say of this class, poor fellow, he is a good soul and has not an enemy but himself. Yes, he is surely murdering himself. Ah, I hear some moderate drinkers say, "I will never go so far down as that." Stop my friend, let us admit for the sake of argument that you will not. Then recall to your mind the many accidents, disasters, etc. that have been recorded where rum was wholly or partly responsible, and vote for prohibition and remove the temptation from the poor fellows, your fellow creatures, who have not the power to stand against this demon. Of course the outports are nearly if not all free from this vile stuff, but seeing the good results, they, the outports, are now anxious to rid St. John's of the curse as well, and do that city much good, besides assuring themselves of a greater benefit as well.
Again I will call on all females to work, talk, pray, plead, and leave no stone unturned from now until the 4th of November, in order to drive this demon from our shores, forever—yes, forever.
Again wishing the prohibition cause every success.
Yours etc.,
MARY.

A Word to the Wise.

Why pay more for "less satisfactory results?" Incandescent gas is at once the cheapest and the best form of illumination. It is the cheapest not only on account of its low initial cost, but also because by keeping the air in a room constantly moving gas is a powerful ventilating agent and therefore a foe to doctor's bills. Moreover, being "artificial daylight" it does not exercise a deleterious effect upon the eyesight. Children can work or read with perfect safety and comfort in a gas-lit room, and parents may thus avoid laying up for their youngsters the headaches and general "lack of tone" which eyestrain causes.

Gas may claim aesthetic as well as hygienic value. Modern gas fittings have been brought to a very high standard of artistic merit, and can be designed to harmonise with any period of decoration or furniture. Gas means household health, economy and beauty.
