The Only Thing Good Enough to Stand Such a Test

You know as well as we that you can't tell anything about a truss or anything else for rupture merely by trying it on. That's the worst of going to a drugtsore or local truss fitter's. A truss or so-called "applitance" may seem all right when you first put it on add afterwards prove utterly worthless. The only way in the world you can make sure of exactly what you are getting is by a 60 days' trial—a thoreach day-after-day test.

And our guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe—is the only thing of any kind whatever for rupture that you can get on 60 days' trial, the only hing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test.

AT FORUM, "TRUTH

Withdrawn Some Time Ago Interesting Address on Two Vital Subjects; Present Government Is Empty Form of Democracy

In what was termed by Miss Coutts, may now be sold without restriction in any part of Canada An annuincein any part of Canada. An announce-at the Forum since she has been conment from the food controller's office nected with the institution. H. W. states that the embargo of August 24 Wood, president of the Canadian counupon the sale and purchase of peas, cil of agriculture and the U.F.A. dealt beans, tomatoes, beets, celery, corn, spinach, rhubarb and pumpkins preserved in cans, glass jars or other continers has been raised. Wood set forth the fact that the growt The Miting of the embargo applies to the three maritime provinces, On-ario, Quebec and British Columbia. In co-relative with the increase of the knowledge of truth and the spread of that knowledge. Mr. Wood believes that Canada has at the present but the skeleton or bare bones of democracy. But he has great faith in the belief that these bare bones can and will be covered with the flesh of true

> Mr. Wood said: "I believe that a sincere, independent search for the great laws of life is the noblest enterprise in which a woman or man or group of women or men can engage. The Great Prophet has said: 'We shall know the truth, and the truth shall make us free.'

"Ever since men began to gather themselves together in groups to discuss social matters, there has been a continuous search after truth, and I do not believe that at any time this search has been entirely fruitless.

Slow Development "The development of social conditions and government was very slow at first, but we have reached a condition where there is a speed as never before in the general progress of affairs. But the danger has increased more rapidly than our skill has increased. Unless we can increase our skill by a better understanding of the laws of life, we have no assurance that we shall not meet with absolute disas-

"Civilization has two fundamental parts. First, people, and, secondly, institutions. Institutions and people brought together, working under the true laws of life, constitute a true civilization. But unless the institutions are used so as to serve all the wants civilization. We have institutions sufficient to serve these wants, but they are not used for this purpose.

"There have been two stages of levelopment. All the first stages of development were along the lines of form national units they formed them along the line of autocracy. "At first this autocracy was confined to individuals. The king was supreme. But soon this individual found himself under the necessity to increase the powers behind him. So the autocracy was broadened out to first include the nobility, and afterward the aristocracy. But it had not come down to include the people themselves. Then the people awakened to a realization of the way they were being treated, and began to search for way to better their condition.

"Their vision of a regenerated social ondition was very limited. First they began to seek for concessions from autocracy, but never dreamed of abanloning autocracy. Finally they began to look farther and saw the need of a change of government. They began to aim for a democratic form of gov

Only an Empty Form Mr. Wood continued: "We have only an empty form. Dry bones not yet clothed with flesh." The speaker then told the story of Ezekiel's vision of the valley of dry bones, in which the prophet first saw nothing but heaps of bones. Then the bones came together, becoming skeletons, and later took on flesh and became a mighty army. Then he added: "We see a lemocratic skeleton. Can these bones ive? I say yes. These bones can ive, and these bones will live. "Already efforts which have with a great measure of success have been put forth to clothe this skeleton-From Adam Smith until Lloyd George political economists have been seeking to find flesh to put on the bones of this unborn skeleton of democracy The great political economists have contributed much. Much remains for "A man will discover an evil which he thinks he can remedy. He will hug this remedy to himself, thinking it is a cure-all. He finds this flower of truth on the prairie and fences it about and builds a house near it and camps there. Take for instance free irade. there. Take for instance free trade How many of you are camping beside the flower of free trade? I believe in free trade, but it is not a cure-all. This is only one of many flowers of truth. "Now, we have another cure-all That is the building of another politidal party. I do not think there has ever been a political party built for reform purposes but what has been helpful. Yet that in itself will not

The new political movement grows out of the idea that civilization consists of common people and political government and that the political government and that the political government is the great evil. The political parties do not rule Canada. Politics is but one of the institutions of Canada. We must get control of all these ada. We must get control of all these cure is permanent. Parties Do Not Control. ada. We must get control of all these institutions, including the commercial, financial, educational and even the religious institutions. If we can control the other institutions it will be easy to control the political institutions." The speaker here gave a few rules to guide in the search for truth. "First you must realize that you do not know the truth. Next, you have got to be absolutely honest with yourself. You must not be governed by any kind of prejudice, preconceived ideas or by the things you have learned to love or to rate. Then you have to be absolutely fearless. Wherever the truth leads you must follow. Every truth in the uni-verses wherever found is in absolute harmony with every other truth. Truth

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend, Ont., writes: "I am going to tell you of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. My little gird had sores come out on her head which looked like ringworms. They were spreading fast, and I tried home treatment, but nothing helived her. I took her to the nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yoke of an egg. The salve he gave me to put on was very severe, and the poor child would cry for an hour or more after an application. For six weeks it continued to spread all over her head, and came down to her neck and ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind ladies told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment, so I got a box, and Every man or woman who comes the first time I put it on she was rehere searching after truth must lay all prejudice, all cocksuredness aside. I the swelling was all gone. Before we must get myself under the spirit of had finished the first box the sores harmony, not of discord, if I am going were nearly all gone. I have told all to give and receive. The people have the people around here about your to learn to rule. They cannot learn to Ointment, and I cannot praise it too to learn to rule. They cannot learn to rule under the spirit of truth until they have themselves got under the spirit of truth, which is harmony.
