—At the Police Court yesterday Mrs. Margaret Fleming charged Mrs. Annie Fisher with doing damage to property. They both live on Dundas street west. The planniff said she was standing at her window when she saw the accused throw an old iron file, which broke through another window under which she was standing. The defendant denied the charge point blank. The original cause of the trouble arose over some property dispute between the two. The case was dismissed. The Pretty "Pines" En Fete.

In aid of the Convalescent Home, a lawn social was held Tuezday night at that pretty spot known as "The Pines, on Dundas street, between Adelaide and William atreets. The large lawn was nicely lighted with Chinese lanterns and presented a gay appearance. Mrs. Boomer and Mrs. J. Eva Scoins, a domestic, took up her residence Saturday with a friend—Mrs. John McDonald, living over Clark's Bridge. Yesterday she had the husband before the Police Court for assault, occasioning bodily harm. She says McDonald came home drunk at midnight on Monday and started to exhibit his wrestling accomplishments on his wife, both falling down and the latter screaming. Witness called on another inmate to separate them, and McDonald chased her to her bedroom, swearing at her. Subsequently he entered the room and hit her on the back with such force that she was thrown into the next room. The remainder of the night she stayed at a neighbor's. McDonald denied touching the young woman, and says he merely asked her to leave the house as she was not what she ought to be and was a source of trouble to the family. The magistrate imposed a fine of $4, the charge being changed to common assault.
