KEPT MONEY IN THE STORE.

One of the Sisters Forgot It Was There and Started a Fire.

St. Louis, June 29.—The daughters of David Connor, who committed suicide about a year ago, informed Chief Walsh that they had lost $1,700, the balance of their insurance money.

Connor had been an investigating money broker, but an investigation made by the police showed that it had been destroyed by fire.

Daniel Connor, the father of the girls, committed suicide under an elevated street walk. The family received $2,000 insurance money, which they put in the bank.

The recent financial panic prompted them to withdraw the $1,735 balance they had there.

The money was in greenbacks, and for safety it was placed in the bank, where thieves hanging themselves under an elevated street walk.
