STREET SIGNS BOUGHT

Board of Works Transacted a Great Deal of Business at a Meeting Last Night.

The board of works last night decided to initiate three sewers. Ald. Pocock brought up the question of a proper sewer on the Hamilton road, between Anderson street and Egerton. He moved that it be initiated, and the board concurred in the recommendation. There was the need of a sewer on Marmora street, from Nelson to 110 feet south, and this was initiated on the suggestion of Ald. Pocock. Ald. Saunders moved that a sewer be initiated on Grand avenue, from Ridout to Belleview avenue, and up Belleview This was also agreed to.

A New Pavement. Tenders will be called for an asphalt a couple of years, but the pavement has not been laid.

It was decided to purchase 1,500 street signs from the McClary Manufacturing Company at $30 per hundred, this being the lowest tender. Joint Municipal Buildings.

The question of draining Paul street was taken up, but the residents will be instructed to ask for an award under the ditches and watercourses act. Crossings Are Bad.

Fire Chief Aitken complained that the street railway crossings were in a very dangerous condition and should be repaired. City Engineer Graydon will instruct the company to make the necessary repairs at once.

Ald. Saunders referred to the condition of the railway crossings through the city, and they will be instructed also to put the roadways in proper re-

DUKE TELLS PLANS FOR SHOOTING TRIP

Seeks Sport in Mexico and the Rockies On Second Around the World Journey.

Montreal, May 26.—Pursuit of grizzlies and mountain lions in the Rockies and of black bears and pumas in the mountain wilds of Mexico, are mere appetizers for the real sport of his second round the world shooting trip, as the Duke of Montpensier looks at terly lost his bearings. Talking of his plans yesterday, he seemed most interested in an autotrip he proposes to make chrough Siam. He made one through 450 miles of jungle and wild lands of Indo-China two years ago, and the trials of that expedition appear merely to have whetted his sportsman's appetite for more of the same.

There is plenty of game in Siam, elephants and tigers," he said, "and we expect great sport there. I am taking a new automobile for my trip in that country, built on different lines from the one I used in Indo-China. The country will be somewhat different, and perhaps more difficult on account of much marshy land.

"It was great sport motoring through China. We had to cut a path through the jungle at times for long distances, once for a stretch of eighteen miles. And still in the whole trip we burst only one tire. That tire was broken only because a branch with jagged points swept across it and tore it from the wheel.

"The Chinese were willing and pleasant, but you never can tell what they are going to think of what you do. For instance, they would come in crowds to help us shove the machine over places where we could not take it under its own power. They would laugh and be perfectly friendly and not at all afraid, even when we put on power and rode along. But the moment we backed the car, pouf! Away they all scurried like a lot of scared

He is anxious to get some black bears and pumas, the latter known as mountain lions, in the Rockies. He will use an automobile for travelling about there. He hopes to go after moose in Canada in the autumn, and has arranged to hunt in Wyoming and other Western States later in the fall. In the early winter he will go to matter of joint county and municipal China with Mons. Hubert Thonier, his friend and companion on this trip. They will be accompanied by a man to operate the moving picture machine and care for the other cameras in each of the ward foremen's bouses. Which the duke carries in addition to numerous cases of sporting arms and other accessories. Commenting on the duke's fondness or countries without roads in an automobile, the interviewer suggested that perhaps his next tour in the east would be in an airship.

"I have one," he answered with a smile, "and now that you suggest it I believe I shall have it sent to Siam. Surely it would create interest. But you never can tell what those people vill think about anything."

MADE SOUP FROM FUNGUS IN FOREST

A Thrilling Adventure of Earl Salisbury's Brother in Porcupine Wilds.

Montreal, May 27.-Six months beond civilization in the frozen north of Canada, in which the face of human beings, neither white nor Indian, was seen, was the experience related by Hon. Harold Cecil, the miner cousin of the present Marquis of Salisbury, and of the former premier, who has had his share of perils and dangers on chairman; Ald. Saunders, Ald. Pocock, nearly every gold field in the world, Ald, Morgan, Mayor Beattie, City Enand who frankly states that his remarkable adventures beyond the Por-cupine eclipses all he has passed gincer Graydon and Secretary Baker.

To a reporter he told his thrilling story, which he is on his way to recount to the family at Hatfield, who insisted on his going home before returning to British Columbia. He left on the fast express for New York last night, sailing from there by fastest steamer across the Atlantic.

It was, he said, towards the end of last October that he came down from British Columbia, having heard of the rising fame of the new Porcupine fields. In November, pursuing his investigations alone on the outskirts of the field, where for several reasons he made himself known to no one, he folllowed the occasional outcropping of reefs into the forest, and there he ut-

Lost in the Forest.

In the cloudy days towards the end of November he wandered he knew not where, evidently the farther he travelled getting deeper and deeper into the woods. He was without portable food, but he had a revolver in his belt, a miner's axe, a hammer, and some matches. He came at length to a creek which ran through a lake. Out of this he got some fish by weaving a net of boughs and grasses. After a week or two he was enveloped in a heavy snowstorm, and he realized that his chances of reaching civilization alive were slender. He could not get out of the forest until spring.

Built a Shack. With dauntless courage he built a shack of pine boughs of the lean-to type. Bringing in the boughs he made the valuable discovery of an edible fungus, the Tripe de Roche. Here, with occasional game and deer and partridges, and an abundance of soup made from the fungus, he survived.

His greatest task was to provide himself with dried wood necessary for the fire he had kindled, and to keep it from extinguishing. At the end of March a band of Indians passed, on their way to Moose Factory, on the southern shore of Hudson Bay. He who was in a position to write a check for $50,000 whenever he got within reach of a bank, managed to get the tribe to accept employment, with promise of good re-muneration. It was the end of April that he got back to Porcupine, and he calmly finished his surveying before emerging again into full civilization.

TRAVELLERS' CLUB

Gunther, W. H. Escott and other trarelling men were behind the scheme, and for some years they took an active part in the organization. Several picnics and entertainments were given by In 1901, however, the local organization withdrew from the Knights of the Grip, and it was decided to form a travellers' club.

The first officers were: President Harry E. Buttrey; first vice-president, Donald Ferguson; second vice-president, E. R. C. Struthers; secretary, S. Frank Glass; treasurer, J. K. Spry; directors, R. D. McDonald, Charles W. McGuire, Alf Gunther, John M. Ferguson, John S. Townsend, A. T. Edwards and R. G. Kilgour.

Suitable quarters were obtained in the Masonic Temple. From 1902 until 1904 they remained in the temple, later moving to 576 Richmond street. There they remained until this spring.

The membership of the club grey rapidly, and it was necessary to pur-chase new quarters. The London
