Heinie Steiger Pitched Great Ball, But McGroarty Seemed to Have His Number-Locals Only Get One Run Off Dougherty and Dolan.

[BY BERT PERRY.]

A gent named McGroarty wasn't fooled a bit by Heinie Steiger's slants over at Tecumseh park yesterday afternoon, and London lost the initial contest to the Hamilton team by the score of 3 to 1. Mr. McGroarty takes all the credit. It was his two-base knock in the eighth inning that decided the contest, for there were men on second and third at the time. Up to the time of the Mc-Groarty slam, the game had been a nip and tuck battle with the honors about The Hams played better than was expected, mainly because the London team wasn't hitting, and they looked a much improved aggregation since the time "Doc." Yates brought them here earlier in the season.

Heinle Was Good. Steiger pitched a good game of ball. After the fourth inning, he blazed his way through the Hamilton batters, and in a manner that was nice to watch, and for three sessions the Visitors went out in order. In the eight, however, he succumbed. In this inning, with two men out and Dudley on second, Corns uncorked a smart single to centre, and some mighty spry field-ing on the part of Eddie Lamy, the world's champion skater, held Dudley at third. McGroarty was up next, and he had two hits to his credit out of three previous attempts in the earlier part of the game. He poled one over Bierbauer's head, and despite Cy. Jack White's club scored the first run of the game in the second frame, when Corns was walked and McCroarty singled to left. In this inning, the Hams of three on with only one out, due to an error by Whitcraft, and a couple of singles. Frenchman Slipped to His Knees in the Round That Was Fatal to Smith and the Latter Delivered Punches That Cost Him the Battle---Eleven Thousand Fans Attended Exhibition

LONDON, July 16.—George Carpentier, the young French champion, and the only pugilist of premier rank France has ever contributed to the game, was awarded the decision tonight over Gunboat Smith, the American fighter, on a foul in the sixth round of the fastest heyweight fight Londoners have seen in many years.

The match between the two heavy-weights was fought at Olympia and was scheduled to go 20 rounds. To Smith and his supporters the finish was a tragedy, because the blow for which the American was disqualified was neither studied nor intentional. It was launched in the heat of the whiriwind launched in the heat of the whirlwind fighting when the Frenchman had slipped to his knees, and the spectators saw the gaunt sailor recoil and attempt to draw back almost as his arms flew

Nevertheless, the ending of tonight's fight adds another to the unfortunate chapters of international sport, because it has kindled bad feeling and is likely to be followed by long-drawn-out arguments

There has been an undercurrent of prejudice against American boxers among English ring followers, and how-ever unintentional Smith's breach of the rules was, it probably will be cited in support of this prejudice. Referee Corri's Decision Popular. The popular judgment awarded Car pentier the better of the fight on its merits. Pitted against such a powerful antagonist as Smith, it was evident that the Frenchman's marvelous quick-ness had not been exaggerated. He showed a left lead like a flash of lightning and a powerful and equally swift right. His footwork was wonderful, and, although Smith was remark-ably quick for a big man, he was noticeably slower than his younger op-

Crowd Entered Ring.
French and American camp followers oured into the ring and surrounded the referee, Eugene Corri. Shouts of "foul, foul," were raised. Everybody talked to the referee at once, and the referee pointed to Carpentier, indicating that the Frenchman was the winner. the Frenchman was the winner. Few were able to grasp his decision until the master of ceremonies, by bellowing and pointing to Carpentier, managed to make the result known. Gunboat Smith stood in his corner in a green robe, reluctant to leave the ring, while hundreds hooted him. Finally he Carpentier was brought to the ropes the Frenchman.

Enthusiasm Ran High. The enthusiasm of the house, from the white shirted aristocrats on floor to the Whitechapel costers in the highest galleries, was with the Frenchman from the moment he stepped into the ring. His youth, his cheerful smile, his perfect body, combined to make him the very picture of an athlete. More-The punch did not land squarely, but glanced off, and, carried by the force of his blow, Carpentier swung round and slipped to his knees.

Is Willing That Winner Take Entire Purse or Gate Money -Carpentier Makes No Reply.

[Canadian Press.]

London, July 17 .- "Gunboat" Smith and his manager "Jim" Buckley, said today they intended to make a further effort to arrange a return fight with Carpentier, the French heavyveight who yesterday was awarded the decision at Olympia when Smith was disqualified in the sixth round for hitting the Frenchman while he was on the ground.

Smith declared his willingness to meet the Frenchman anywhere and at any time and would prefer that the winner should take the entire purse or gate money. would make no reply to Smith's offer to fight again, saying the matter was one for the consideration of his manager, who had not had time yet to take the matter up.

Light Hurt Smith's Eyes.

Smith today asserted that he never would fight again before a cine-matograph. He said his eyes were weak and he had to wear glasses in the sunlight. Last night the glare of the lights puzzled him and he hought this possibly had something to do with his striking Carpentier while the Frenchman was down. Smith insists that even if his glove touched Carpentier, it was uninten-tional and the blow did not hurt his opponent. Any other boxer he said, would have continued the fight. As to the blow which knocked him down in the fourth round. Smith said that while it was a hard one, it did not put him out and he had simply remained down to gain the benefit of the rest.

Buckley Protests.
While realizing that it is hopeless. Buckley is maintaining a formal proest against the referee's decision, on he ground that it had been arranged for the seconds to remain out of the ring until after the referee had given his decision. Deschamps, the Frenchman's manager, Buckley points out, disregarded this arrangement and jumped into the ring immediately he saw there was a chance of winning the bout on a technicality.

The boxing experts on the news-papers are divided in their opinions as were those at the ringside. Men with actual ring experience, such as Fred Welch, the lightweight champion, however, say that Carpentier was not hurt and that the scene which followed the foul blow was the result of quick simultaneous working of the brains of Carpentier nd his seconds. Eugene Corri, the referee, it is admitted by all did the only thing possible after Deschamps had claimed Carpentier Willing. London, July 17 .- "If Gunboat Smith wants a return match right away he s not going to encounter the slightest difficulty," said Carpentier's manager. It is Carpentier's wish as it is my wish, that the white champion of the world should retain the championship not by a mere fluke or disqualification

but by right of superiority in boxing."

Deschamps commenting on what he termed the disappointing end of yesterday's fight, said both he and Carpentier were dissatisfied with the result. He added: "Carpentier personally wanted the fight to proceed, but I thought the blow he received from Smith while he was down would have proved detrimental had the fight gone on. He regrets he was not allowed to the championship on a clean, straightforward knockout, for he had "Gunboat" Smith beaten almost from the outset. Carpentier is very sorry his opponent gave him a foul blow that put an end to the match. Had the referee allowed the fight to go on the French boy was absolutely certain of
