His Marvelous Work Kept the Granite Score Out of Double Figures.

Canadian Press Despatch. Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg March 20.—The Allan Cup, emblematic of the Canadian amateur hockey championship, seems due to stay in the east for at least another year. The Toronto Granites, Eastern champions, scored a 6 to 1 victory over the Eniversity of Saskatchewam aggregation here tonight, in the first game of the Allan Cup finals, in a contest marked by ragged hockey, and wish the victors always in command of the play. The final game will be played Thursday night.

If was a case of the dope working to perfection. The western finalists were not conceded a "ghost of a chance" to evercome the much-heralded Granite crew, and though they battled hard all the way, they were simply outclassed, save for the final period, when they seemed to take a new lease of life and they held the easterners even.

Granites Fail to Impress. Granites Fail to Impress.

Varsity was seldom dangerous, and gave Cameron, the Granite goalie, little chance to show his wares. Touted as one of the greatest teams sent from the east in years, the Granites failed to impress. This was to a great extent due to the fact that after they had gained a lead they were never threatened and seldom seemed to exert themselves.

STRATFORD COUNCILLORS

Special to The Advertiser. Stratford. March 29.—Plans were furthered for the presentation to be given the champion intermediates at a meeting this morning of the special committee of the city council and the executive of the hockey club. No definite decision has been reached as to the form of the presentation, but it will be something worthy of the city and the honor the team has brought to the city.

During the past week Getald L. had been given cantering exercises and appeared to be perfectly sound. Exercise gallop yesterday disclosed that all was not well with the horse, and it was decided to scratch him from the entry.

Stage Fright Hit Giant's Rookie

Special to The Advertiser.

New York, March 20.—Sometimes an athlete is a very delicate piece of mechanism. There is the case of young Joe Dillard, the Texas collegian, who came to join the Glants and at his first trip to the clubhouse here sustained a nervous breakdown. For days he brooded in his hotel room and finally had to be sent home.

"Do you think that such a nervously inclined young man ever will be able to make good in the big league?" John McGraw was asked.

big league?" John McGraw was asked.
"Certainly," said Mr. McGraw promptly. "Some of the best ball players in the world are highly sensitive and highly nervous. Dilard seems to have had merely a case of stage fright. Any youngster might get that. If he is the baseball player I have heard he is, I look for him to come back again and make good absolutely."

The St. Thomas Juveniles defeated the Central Seconds in a fast preliminary game, 28 to 15. The St. Thomas boys led at half time, and in the second half ran up a big score. Murray and Gribbin were good for the Centrals, while Lang, Westrope and Hind netted the points for St. Thomas.

The lineups:

Harry Watson, hailed as the best forward in the O. H. A., was easily the most effective man on the ice. In Rodden and McCaffery he had two capable assistants. The pretty combination work of this trio was practically the only bright feature of the contest. Hughie Fox teamed with both Ramsay and Munro on the defence, and they had little difficulty in fathoming the one-man rushes of the opposition. Ramsay was a tireless worker and taken off the defence he performed at left wing. Cameron was always safe in goal.

Three players stood out on the Varsity team. Hay in goal, though allowing two "soft" ones to slip by him, played a truly great game. Turvey was easily the best of the defence.

Get 12-Point Lead in First of Semi-Final Play-

The London Collegiate cagers defeated the Strathroy C. I. team in a semifinal W.O.S.S.A. game at the Central Collegiate gym last night by a score of 24 to 12. The game was fast at times, but was slowed up by the hard checking of both teams, particularly that of Strathroy. The halftime score was 12 to 8 in favor of London, and in the second they managed to get 12 more, while Strathroy counted 4 more. The while Strathroy counted 4 more. The close checking of the Strathroy boys held in London, who seemed unable to get away. The London team showed a better brand of basketball, by a narrow margin. Linton and Lamont were the pick for Strathroy, while Lawrence, Barbour and Williamson netted London's points.

The return game will be played in Strathroy on Friday night, and with 12 points to their credit, London Centrals are the favorites.

Down the Line In All Sports

By NORMAN E. BROWN.

Playing a "twin" facrosse team this season with London and St. Thomas players will have its problems, but with the chances of meeting St. Marys or Sarnia, to mention in open meeting two of the nearest and strongest lacrosse rivals on even terms, will give the pastimers plenty of reasons for finding ways to overcome inconveniences. An endeavor will be made this week to find out just what the St. Thomas players are prepared to do, and Recording Secretary Stan Reid will be requested to call a meeting of the London A. A. this week or early next so that enthusiasts who have carried the burden of the game for the past few seasons may formally shift the game over for administration by the L. A. A. A.

So far as is known, the L. A. A. doesn't harbor any lacrosse enthusiasts, so the thought of taking over this game isn't apt to provide cause for uncontrolled merriment among the members of the executive. The L. A. A: will likely institute a revival of lacrosse in the schools.

The national pastime's most ardent well-wisher would hardly prophesy the return of lacrosse to ascendancy in Canadian sport, but with the game properly fostered in the schools and kept going otherwise, it will hold its own. Lacrosse is too valuable as a game for any community to

to the eye in an argument around the tough waterfront section, or in one of those affairs which were wont to happen in ancient times, in places of low repute but high concentration known as "bars," the experts see nothing but gloom surrounding his future. All admit the force of his right smash, but the man has no left. Positively! Modern boxing technique demands that a man have a left. And vet, there were such men as Mace, John L. Sullivan and Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons, uncouth fightters, 'tis true, who achieved results of a kind without using their lefts much except for purposes of support against the mahogany.

Softball, which descended on London in a cloud last year, threatens to occupy a still bigger place in the city's summer sport program than ever. Both men's and girls' teams are looking for wider organization. In the case of the former, the meeting to be held at Hamilton will be the start of province-wide elimination competitions modeled along the lines of the O. H. A. or the O. A. B. A. Girls' softball, will eventually reach that stage too, but if enthusiasts are wise, they'll step carefully, in this case. Both amateur and pro baseball will receive benefit, too, from the growth of the softball game and the fans of the future will be more critical than ever they've been.
