THE GERMAN EMPIRE.

Teutons Have Risen to the Front Rank of Chemical Industries-Emperor William's Interest.

In what manner Germany is applying scientific knowledge and training to industrial purposes is revealed in a most lucid report written by Dr. Frederick Rose, British Consul at Stuttgart, which was published recently by the Foreign Office. In a former pamphlet this careful student of German educational methods showed that the expenditure incurred by the German States for chemical instruction had been amply repaid by the creation and rapid growth of most important chemical industries and by the addition of large sums to the sum total of national wealth. Within the last fifty years, by means of a methodical campaign, Germany has risen to the front rank in chemical industries, not only rendering herself independent of many imports from other nations, but depriving foreign countries of many lucrative branches of chemical manufacture by substituting her products for their own. The an-£50,000,000, which is considered as interest upon the capital invested great and active technical high schools, of which there are nine fully equipped, while two more, at Dantzig and Breslau, are now being com-

Dr. Rose points many ways-by participation in educational conferences, by the admission of the directors of Prussian technical high schools to the Prussian Upper House, and finally by honoring the Prussian technical high schools with the right of conferring the new degree of Doctor of Engineering upon the occasion of the centenary of the Berlin Technical High School. This honor, great in itself when it is considered how tenaciously the old classical universities cling to their privi lege of conferring degrees, was further enhanced by the Emperor by the bestowal of the title of "His Magnific ency" upon the professor elected each year to the office of director of the Berlin Technical High School and by the additional right of conferring the degree of "Doctor honoris causa" upon distinguished scientists, scholars, and public men. The example thus given has been quickly followed in the remaining German States, notably in the Kingdom of Wurtemberg, by His Majesty King William II., who has always evinced the keenest interest in the furtherance of technical and higher education. Out of a revenue of transformed from an agricultural to in industrial State. In 1871 it was a nation of 39,000,000 nhabitants, of whom 60 per cent, were engaged in agricultural pursuits. In 1900 it had increased to an empire of 58,000,000 inhabitants, of whom 35 per cent. were engaged in agriculture and 65 per cent.—nearly two-thirds-in industry and trade. This transformation from agriculture to industry was most active between 1880 and 1895, during which period the working population increased 17.8 per cent.. of which agricul-ture only gained 0.7 per cent., while manufactures, mining, and the building trades were increased by 29.5 per ent., and commerce by 48.9 per cent. During the last seventeen years the students at technical high schools have acreased 206 per cent., those at the universities only 12 per cent.-London Telegraph.

Kentucky Justice.

Syracuse Post-Standard. No one expected a verdict of guilty for Jett and White of Breathitt county, Ky., the murderers of Marcum, and so no one is disappointed. The jury was discharged after spending a night under heavy guard in a Jackson hotel. The commonwealth's attorney, Mr. Byrd, slept at home, also under heavy guard. The reason for this was that he had said unkind things about the murderers during Those jurors who voted for acquit-

Just an Acre.

It is often useful to know the number of square feet in an acre of ground. The number is 43.560. In order to have this area, the piece of land must, as any schoolarea, the piece of land must, as any schoolboy knows, be of such length and breadth that the two multiplied together will produce the above number. Thus an acre of land might be 43,560 feet long by one foot broad; 21,780 feet long by two feet broad; 14,510 feet long by three feet broad, and so on. If the arre of land is to be exactly The nearest an even number of feet in the side is make it 220 feet long by 198 feet broad.
