After the routine business the President, Mr. H. C. Hammond, moved the adoption of the report, which showed a very satisfactory state of affairs.

C. in according the motion of the adoption, made a few remains to the following effect: He had much pleasure, he said, in stating that the liquidation of this heart, which has been it the board, had been unineatly satisfactory. The figuidators had collected since the board, had been unineatly satisfactory. The figuidators had collected since the board, had been the state of the province of this sum had been resident or services to had the services of the province and out of the province have not services and and so different parcels of the province and out of the province between 70 and 80 different parcels of the province and out of the province between 70 and 80 different parcels of the province and out of the servince and the board affairs of the Bank upon reconcine principles, the staff upon the province of the standard affairs of the Bank upon reconcine principles, the staff upon the province of the standard that he seems and the board had been very great and to his adult to that gentleman to say that obening a claim and the board had been very great and to his adult to that gentleman to say that obening a claim of the shareholders and the board had been very great and to his adult to that gentleman to say that obtained a claim and the board had been very great the standard th been amicanly settled between art. North-heimer and the bank, and in the court certain statements were made by counsel. He could not do better than repeat what appeared in The Empire of the following day, which was as follows:

At the opening of the Toronto Spring Chancery
Sittings before Mr. Chancellor Boyd, at Osgoode Hall yesterday, the first case mentioned was the celebrated one of Federal Bank v. Nordheimer.
It was at once attack of the host that the celebrated one of Federal Bank v. Nordheimer. It was at once stated at the bar that this case had been settled, and a judgment was pronounced in terms of consent minutes. Mr. Walter Cassels, Q.C., who appeared for the plaintiffs, said to the court that Mr. Nordheimer had paid a considerable sum of money in settlement, but it was proper to state that no charge of wrong-doing had been made against him; it was simply a case of legal liability. The sum paid by Mr. Nordheimer is $75,000.

Since the matter had been settled the utmost cordiality had prevailed, which, no doubt, would continue between Mr. Nordheimer and his co-liquidators. As the bearsholders were good heimer and his co-liquidators. As the shareholders were good enough this time twelve months to adopt what Mr. Hammond and himself and the board had suggested, he had no doubt but that they would also adopt and approve of what they had done, which had been done in the interests of all concerned, and with the least possible friction. As Mr. Nordheimer was present, Mr. Hoskin had no doubt that that gentleman approved of what he had just had the pleasure of stating.

At the conclusion of these remarks the shareholders expressed their entire satisfaction, and thereupon the report was adopted and the directors re-elected.
