Statesmen might have argued for years on the advantages of such a federation and their words would have produced no colonial volunteers. In Great Britain such a widespread recognition of colonial loyalty now exists that it cannot but lead to a better understanding among British peoples. In a case like this sentiment will have a far-reaching influence even on trade, and it is not improbable that matters commercial may be arranged on a more marked preferential basis than now obtains. However, it was from higher motives than the prospect of commercial advantage that Canadians volunteered for foreign service. The dead soldiers will be held in loving remembrance by their countrymen and the living who return again to Canadian citizenship will be properly honored for their patriotism and gallantry.

The Gold Trust. The most gigantic trust the world has known is in process of formation in London. It is a gold trust which plans to control the entire output of gold and put even nations at its mercy. Everything is being kept secret, and all the principale deny it, but all indications point to its existence.

Alfred Beit is the richest individual in London. He has one ambition—to be the richest man in the world, and he hopes to do it through the gold trust.

For eight months the gold trust soheme has been in slow process of formation. Africa produces a majority of the world's supply of gold, and Beit controls a majority of the African output. Therefore he has an excellent foundation to build upon.

Thus South African gold interests will be moulded into harmony. Next to be considered was Australia, where there is considered was for the considerable mining. There are good prospects, by purchase of stock and placing its own men in directories, of harmonious relations and control being secured there.

Already the leading Klondike mines are controlled in London, and can be put into the trust whenever desired.

Just at the present Stratton's Independence mine and the Campbird mine, in Colorado, are the most important properties for the trust to secure in order to control the American output. There are many reports that the Beit crowd is planning to take over these other American gold mines when it suits their purposes. The trust hopes to secure control of seven-eighths of the output of gold in the world.

Steel Shipbuilding.

A Montreal despatch to the Sydney Post says:—A big company is on the eve of organization which will, its promoters confidently expect, restore the prestige of the maritime provinces of Canada as a shipbuilding centre, a prestige shattered by the passing away of the wooden ships. MCDORMAND—PURDY.

One of those interesting events which it is a pleasure to chronicle took place in the Bear River Baptist church, at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, 28th ult., when Chas. McDormand, one of the popular young men of the village, was united in marriage to Miss Maud May, daughter of Fred Purdy, of the same place. The bride was attired in white corded silk, with vell and orange blossoms, and of course looked charming. She was assisted by Miss May Dunn as bridesmaid, who was dressed in pink muslin. A. B. Marshall did the honors for the groom. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr.
Porter, the bridal party were driven to their home and thence to the Bear River Hotel, where a wedding supper was spread for the eighty guests present. Mr. and Mrs. McDormand then drove to Digby, from which place they took passage for Bangor, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.
The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents, which testified to her popularity.
