

future usefulness. Eight or ten of the men now in the Seminary will spend their holidays teaching in some of the vacant villages on the field.

Village schools have been carried on at all the other stations except Yellamanchilli, but no reports have been received.

BOOKS AND TRACTS.

Mr. Davis writes, "I regard this branch of the work as second only to oral preaching." Much of this work is done by the colporteur, who sings and preaches the Gospel as he travels from village to village with his satchel of books. On one or two of the fields there has been difficulty in getting the right man for this work. The reports received from Messrs. Davis, Brown and McLeod tell of many thousands of handbills, tracts and Messengers of Truth that have been distributed, as well as the Bibles, New Testaments, Bible portions, books and hymn-books which have been sold in great numbers.

This work has also been carried on at every station. God has promised "I will give thee the nations for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession." To help bring about this glorious end His Son has said to us, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." The blessing that has already attended our work has proved His promise, "Lo, I am with you always." He has indeed worked with us. Therefore let us ask ourselves before Him, "Am I doing all that I possibly can to help on this work? Is there nothing more which I can do without for His sake?" There are thousands and thousands of Telegu women who have never yet heard of Jesus. This life is short—Eternity will last for ever. When all nations shall appear before the King at His return, how worthless shall all the pleasures of this life appear in comparison with the rapture of hearing the King say, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world, for I was hungry and ye fed me; I was thirsty and ye gave me drink. Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto Me."
