

THE JEWEL a certain young lady lately secured.

CLEVERTON—"Why were you not at the ball the other evening?"

DASHAWAY—"My tailor went back on me."

CLEVERTON—"Didn't send your clothes in time, eh?"

DASHAWAY—"Oh, yes, he did. He sent them C.O.D."

"I HAVE never sold a remedy that has given such entire satisfaction as Burdock Blood Bitters; I sell more of it than of any other dollar preparation," says J. E. McGarvin, druggist, Acton.

"CORNELIUS," said Mrs. Maddergrass to her husband, "I wish you would give me some instruction in pistol shooting."

"You are not afraid of burglars, are you?" asked Maddergrass.

"No; but I understand that a census taker will be along soon to ask women how old they are."—The Fury.

"MAMMA made the oddest remark the other night, George."

"That's not surprising. She's always doing it."

"But this was so peculiar and poetical. You know, she and papa in a few years will celebrate their golden wedding. Well, she said it wouldn't surprise her if you waited until then to celebrate the silver anniversary of our engagement. Odd, wasn't it?"

In buying Diamonds and Fine Watches, this issue of GRIP invites its readers to call on the well-known firm of D. H. Cunningham, 77 Yonge Street, 2 doors north of King. Manufacturing to order, and a large stock of unset diamonds.

EDITOR—"How's this for cool gall? You know Brown is always saying that poetry is a gift?"

SUBBER—"Well?"

EDITOR—"He writes to know why I don't send him a check for his last piece of verse."

Great healing spring: weak mortals see Thy hand flowing mercy-DEITY.

MORE THAN WONDERFUL.

To remove deadly sickening poisons, make the weak strong, is wonderful. But to establish in people claiming good health, degrees of strength and enjoyment in life never before attained, is more than wonderful.

But such is the experience of all who thoroughly test St. Leon Ware. "To perfect the organism, regulate and preserve long life, 'tis invaluable."
