

I speak today for Canada and I pledge Canada to full support of the United Nations in the years to come. We cannot, together or separately, solve all mankind's problems at once. Dissatisfaction and unease will remain part of the common human experience. If we have the will, the courage and the patience, we can make greater progress in the next quarter-century than in the last, so that the youth of our time, and of times to come, may receive from us a United Nations equal to its tasks and a world in which they, in their time, can build upon the foundation we have laid.
