

might we date the first days of our slavery. For no man can possibly think, that if the French were once masters in America, but that they would soon be so in Britain; one is the natural consequence, which certainly will follow soon after the other.

F I N I S.