PRESIDENT WILL CONFER ON BILL

To Take Up the Currency Measure With Democratic Senators.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(Can. Press).—President Wilson will begin conference tomorrow with Democratic senators looking to the acceleration of the administration currency bill's passage thru the senate. The president has been informed that some members of the senate banking and currency committee plan to continue the hearings two weeks longer, and consume a month thereafter in working over the bill. He looks upon this program as likely to throw the currency discussion into the December session of congress and postpone a vote indefinitely, and he will endeavor to ascertain from members of the committee and Democratic senators, generally, what are the causes for the delay.

Bankers Fear Bill.
Significant in the day's developments on the situation were remarks which the president made to callers that objections to the administration bill proceeded chiefly from big bankers, because they feared that the control of the country's financial system would be taken from their hands by the new measure. Referring to a large number of telegrams and letters from bankers throughout the country, approving the bill, the president called particular attention to the fact that some of these bankers had requested that their names be not made public. He told some of those with whom he dis-

THE OYSTER SEASON.

"Oh, hasten, bivalve-hoister—October's here once more; get after Mr. Oyster," we earnestly implore. "Go, bring him in by dozens, his brothers, sisters, cousins, his uncles and his aunts. Go forth," we shout in chorus, "and get some oysters for us—this month we'll take a chance! Speed forth and eat thy anchor right fastly in his midst and ply the trusty yanker as formerly thou didst; load up thy saucy schooner, and then oft return. Oh, hasten, prithee hasten, thy cargo we'd be tastin'—our other food we spurn. Thru all the torrid summer we've longed to see this day; we wait from gum to glimmer right from the first of May; and on till thru September, we were bowed with woe. Go, haul the tender oyster up from his ocean cloister—we want two tons or so."

PROFESSORS ARE EXEMPT.
No appeal will be made by the city against the exemption from taxation of university property used by members of the faculty for residence purposes. This exemption applies to President Falconer and Prof. Mavor.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.
CORNWALL, Oct. 6.—(Special).—Jas Grundy and his wife, who were arrested last week on their charge, were both committed for trial today by Police Magistrate Denis. Another charge against the pair was postponed.

NOME DEVASTATED BY FIERCE STORM

Men Work All Night in Ice Water, to Save Their Effects.

NOME, Alaska, Oct. 6.—(Can. Press).—Nome has been almost destroyed by a storm. The south side of Front street is gone. The Sandspit is gone. Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated. No lives were lost. The storm that last night began beating in from Bering Sea was the worst ever known here. Men and women worked all night in the icy water to save their household effects. The electric light plant was wrecked and telephone service cut off. The loss is estimated at a million and a half dollars.

There will be much suffering and outside help will be required. Winter is at hand and it will be impossible to get in supplies needed.

The steamships Victoria and Corwin, which were lying in the roadstead, ran to the open sea and escaped damage. All the small boats on the beach were destroyed. Five hundred houses have been demolished, and more are falling.

Nome, the famous gold camp on Bering Sea, the most northerly city in the world, was built on a sandy sea beach. In front of the town there is an anchorage for ships, but steamers do not make a landing. Cargoes and passengers are landed at an aerial tramway station in deep water. The principal part of the town, which a dozen years ago had a population of 20,000, is on the east side of Snake River, with a finger extending to the west along a narrow sandspit. The sandspit was rich in gold dust and the earlier settlers built their cabins there.

Of late years the sands have been worked out, and little except dredging operations, which require large capital, is being done. It has been estimated that the dredges have enough ground in sight to operate fifty years more. Nome has produced more than $25,000,000 in gold dust. Some years the yield has been as high as $3,000,000. This year the production will not be more than $4,000,000 owing to lack of water.

The summer population of Nome is about 4,000, and in winter 2,000 remain, the others coming out on steamships that leave late in October. One steamship is yet to leave Seattle for Nome.

It will be possible to send revenue cutters to Nome to deliver supplies and take away needy persons who wish to leave.
